Drugs used to treat Covid in adults not fit for kids: Govt

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

THE Centre on Wednesday issued detailed guidelines for treating children with Covid, emphasising that most of the drugs used for adults are not recommended for kids. Medicines like ivermectin, hydroxychloroquine, favipiravir, doxycycline and azithromycin prescribed to adult patients have not been tested on children, it said.

However, it allowed the restricted use of remdesivir. Once vaccines are approved for children, those with comorbidities and those having severe symptoms would be prioritised for inoculation, the guidelines said.

"Children have less severe disease than adults. In the majority, the infection is asymptomatic or mildly symptomatic. It is uncommon to have moderate to severe Covid among healthy children," it said.

The government called for a combined effort from the public and private sectors to increase facilities to treat children. "A combined effort from the private and public sector is needed to handle any surge (in cases) in the future after the withdrawal of the lockdown over the next three to four months. The basic principles of equity and dignity of care should be followed."

It suggested designating specific areas in Covid facilities for pediatric care, adding parents should be allowed to accompany the child. "For children with multisystem inflammatory syndrome who test negative for acute Covid, care has to be provided by the existing pediatric facilities," it said.

Deliberate defiance by Twitter, says govt

Platform loses safe harbour shield; first FIR filed against it in Ghaziabad for failing to remove misleading content

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

THE ongoing sniping between the Centre and Twitter drew fresh blood on Wednesday with Union information technology minister Ravi Shankar Prasad lashing out the microblogging site for failing to comply with new IT rules despite being given multiple opportunities.

The minister's attack came after Twitter appeared to have lost its safe harbour immunity, exposing it to being liable for platforming third-party content, as it failed to appoint the mandatory statutory officers in time. The first such case in which Twitter can face charges was filed in Ghaziabad on Tuesday, on the alleged assault on an elderly Muslim man on June 5. Twitter has been accused in the FIR of not proactively removing misleading content linked to the incident.

For its part, Twitter claimed it has already hired an interim Chief Compliance Officer (CCO). The new rules mandate the appointment of a CCO, a nodal officer and a resident grievance officer.

"We are keeping the MeitY (Ministry of Electronics and Information Technology) apprised of the progress at every step of the process. An interim Chief Compliance Officer has been retained and details will be shared with the ministry directly soon. Twitter continues to make every effort to comply with the new guidelines," a Twitter spokesperson said.

The CCO will be responsible for liaising between the company and government agencies on all kinds of legal requests received from various law enforcement organisations and government agencies relating to the platform.

Prasad said, "There are numerous queries arising as to whether Twitter is entitled to safe harbour provision. However, the simple fact of the matter is that Twitter has failed to comply with the Intermediary Guidelines that came into effect from the 26th of May."

Twitter, he said, was given multiple opportunities to comply with the rules, but has "deliberately chosen the path of non compliance. The culture of India varies like its large geography. In certain scenarios, with the amplification of social media, even a small spark can cause a fire, especially with the menace of fake news. This was one of the objectives of bringing the Intermediary Guidelines."

"It is astounding that Twitter, which portrays itself as the flagbearer of free speech, chooses the path of deliberate defiance when it comes to the Intermediary Guidelines," he remarked.

The minister also charged that the microblogging major was selective in applying its internal policy of flagging tweets as 'manipulated media' only when it suits its own likes and dislikes.

What happened in UP was illustrative of Twitter's arbitrariness in fighting fake news. While Twitter has been over-enthusiastic about its fact checking mechanism, its failure to act in multiple cases like UP is perplexing & indicates its inconsistency in fighting misinformation

Arun Singh heaps praise on BSY govt

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

BJP General Secretary and Karnataka in-charge Arun Singh's visit threw no surprises on the first day of his three-day visit to the State.

Swarmed by BJP leaders, ministers and cadres at the airport, Kumara Krupa guest house as well as the State BJP headquarters, Singh reiterated that there is no question of leadership change in Karnataka and insisted that his visit is to promote party activities, Union Government schemes and interact with ministers, cadres and legislators.

As part of his first official order of business, Singh met ministers of the BS Yediyurappa cabinet and pushed for better coordination between them and legislators. "All ministers have been asked to make themselves available every Thursday to meet legislators, party workers or even citizens," Singh told the media after the meeting with ministers.

Party sources said that Singh urged the ministers to mend any differences or lack of coordination with the party and cadres by being more attentive, accommodating and available.

Insisting that no talk of leadership change came up during the meeting, Singh repeated that the Yediyurappa government has been doing a good job and the focus of his visit is to promote party and government initiatives. But he did have a word of caution to party leaders making public statements that have become rather embarrassing for the BJP.

"No party leader should make public comments that will dent the image of the party. Before making statements, stop and think if that will be good or bad for the party," he said.

THE State Technical Advisory Committee on Covid-19, which seemed cautious earlier, at a recent meeting recommended that the State could reopen some economic activities like malls, dine-in restaurants, marriage halls, shopping complexes, shopping lanes and closed markets in unlock phase-2, starting from June 21, sources said.

But the number of people at these places will be limited, the sources added.

"Dine-in restaurants, barber shops/salons and spas should work with only 50 per cent capacity. Also, marriage halls can allow a maximum of 50 people," said a source privy to the details of the TAC meeting.

TAC also suggested an interval of two weeks between Unlock 2.0 and 3.0 as these activities are "high risk". "TAC has recommended that various parameters, like Test Positivity Rate (TPR) below 5 per cent; occupancy of oxygenated beds below 60 per cent etc, should be monitored at the district level before going for Unlock 3.0," an official said.

SPAC firms to help startups list overseas

BISMAH MALIK @ Bengaluru

SPECIAL Purpose Acquisition Companies (SPAC) or blank cheque firms have been around in the US for almost two decades, they may also become reality in India soon as startups like Grofers, Flipkart are eyeing overseas acquisitions through SPAC mergers.

India's equity markets regulator, SEBI, earlier this year formed an expert committee to analyse the incorporation and listing of SPAC firms in India, a move that will enable new-age companies to list on domestic exchanges and seek the investment from equity markets when PE and venture deals get tougher to come by. Indian startups are following their counterparts in the US and Southeast Asia, which have been eyeing Nasdaq listings through billion dollar SPAC deals. Singapore's food delivery and ride-hailing giant Grab, for instance, is looking to list at a $40 billion valuation in the US through one of the biggest SPAC mergers later this year. US-based startup Thrasio, which acquires Amazon's private label brands, is also reportedly looking to go public through SPAC merger.

However, the US SEC recently cracked down on a number of firms, which listed through SPAC deals to enable warrants, as well as the ones which aren't able to acquire businesses in stipulated time. P13

Pharma cos get quick eco-clearances

Last year, 11 greenfield firms got the nod; 33 companies had applied for product change

BOSKY KHANNA @ Bengaluru

THE pandemic has started a new trend in the pharmaceutical industry. After the State Government announced a special industrial cluster in Raichur, most pharma companies have sought environmental clearance for change in product manufacturing in the existing unit, instead of applying for a new one.

Data from the Karnataka State Pollution Control Board (KSPCB) show that last year, they gave clearance to 11 greenfield firms. Also, 33 companies had applied for product change last year, while, this year (from April to June), five applied for it. Data also showed that most greenfield companies are keen to set up base in Raichur and the outskirts of Bengaluru.

According to information available with the department of environment, 11 companies were given environmental clearance in the last six months. Of these, two companies are Covid vaccine manufacturing units, while the rest sought clearance for change of product. Also, three of these 11 companies are located in Bengaluru.

"Companies are termed greenfield when they set up a unit from the scratch and produce the final product, like Sputnik V. Bharat Biovet is a company that sought environmental clearance for change in product," said a senior KSPCB official.

He explained that the reason for this is because of the long procedure involved in giving clearances. "Normally, the clearance for any new company, especially pharma, takes at least eight months, because multiple committees have to scrutinise the proposal. The company also has to hire a consultant to assess and certify the proposal which takes a long time. Instead, companies, which are already manufacturing some drugs, preferred to scale down the production of an existing drug and sought approval for change of drug in the same unit, because the time to get the approval would be faster," the official stated.

Another senior official from the environment department said that understanding the urgency of the situation, companies decided to scale down production of other drugs and work more on need-based, life-saving drugs, using the existing facilities.

"Even though the ministry streamlined the process to give clearances, they are still listed under red category (highly polluting)," the official added.

Officials suggest changes in first draft of Karanth Layout

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

WITH the Supreme Court mandating the formation of Dr Shivaram Karanth Layout, which was shelved by the Bangalore Development Authority, the draft plan for the layout has finally been readied. An interesting aspect of the draft is that it has earmarked public toilets as well as 3% space for commercial outlets.

Dr Shivaram Karanth Layout, which will have 18,975 sites readied on 3,546 acres and 12 guntas, will be the second largest of 58 layouts of the authority. It will come up in 17 villages between Doddaballapur and Hesaraghatta areas.

A top BDA official told The New Indian Express, "We are fine tuning the draft plan which we are basing on the city's Revised Master Plan for 2016. The draft was presented to the urban development officials on Monday and they have suggested certain modifications. Consultant EI Technologies is readying the plan for us."

The official expressed confidence that the final draft will be ready within the next two months. The officials further explained that as is the norm for BDA layouts, 15 per cent of the space would be earmarked for parks and other greenery. "Ten per cent will be kept for Community Amenity (CA) sites, which includes hospitals, milk booths, educational institutions, shopping complexes and so on," he explained.

Elaborating on the space reserved for commercial outlets, the official said, "We have done this in order to avoid the common trend of the ground floors of residential homes turning into shops. Instead, everything will be there at one place."

Narrow roads a problem in 4th Block KG Layout

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

A good number of the 2,400 site allottees on the 4th Block Nadaprabhu Kempegowda Layout (NPKL) are concerned with the narrow roads, which are being constructed within their eight sectors.

Unlike the infrastructure planned in the other eight blocks on the layout, this one has 30 feet-wide roads, with one road just 20 feet-wide.

Nadaprabhu Kempegowda Layout Progressive Front is battling the issue with the authority. Dr Padma Prasad, a retired doctor, is among those at the forefront of this demand to rectify the anomaly. "We will have 4,500 families in the fourth block. The roads connecting the sectors within our sectors will suffer traffic bottlenecks. The roads that connect with the main Major Arterial Road (MAR) are very narrow,"

"The amount we paid is the same as all other allottees, so, why are we being treated like this?" she asked. The doctor was allotted a 60 x40 ft site in 2018 on her third attempt.

The issue came to light after the allottees studied the detailed maps released by BDA on December 31, 2020. One aspect which many reiterated was that when the Challaghatta Metro station would become operational, it would be difficult for feeder buses to enter the block.

R Udayashankar, a software professional, said, "There is a 20 feet road running near the Anjaneya Temple that connects with the MAR Road. You cannot see such narrow roads anywhere these days."

> it is not possible to change the alignment of the 4th block as the planning was completed in 2014 itself. The roads are nine metres wide, which is enough for buses to ply
> BDA official

He also pointed out the massive storm water drains that run from Sector A to G in the block. "There are just two bridges running over it and they are vital to avoid traffic jams," he said and added that as a good portion of the space, which was originally planned for parks, has been converted to sites, there is a need to increase the lung cover of the block.

The allottees had approached the BDA twice in March.

A senior BDA official said that it is not possible to change the alignment of the 4th block currently as the planning was completed in 2014 itself. He also emphasised on the fact that the roads are nine metres wide, which is enough for buses to ply.

Rlys seals road built on its land

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

IN a bizarre incident, Bengaluru railway officials have closed a connecting road in Panathur area, because it was laid on railway property without its consent. In an official release, the railways charged BBMP with encroaching its property near the Bellandur railway station.

BBMP contractor had laid asphalt on a muddy road of about 300 metres between Panathur Main Road and Panathur Dinne overnight, the release said. The work was done recently but no one is aware of the exact date.

An official added that the seven-metre road was sealed by the railways on Tuesday and will be reopened on Thursday. This followed talks held by MP PC Mohan with local residents, BBMP and railway officials on Wednesday to diffuse the situation.

Railway officials close road

"Recently, a contractor of BBMP had laid a road overnight without the permission of the railways and tried to encroach on railway land. The staff carried out routine inspection and noticed this and alerted the Railway Protection Force on Tuesday," the release added.

The Railway erected a barrier made of old sleepers over the road and erected boundary pillars to demarcate railway land and prevent encroachment.

BBMP officials said that they were in the process of acquiring private land to lay another alternate road and it would take up to six months to complete the process.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

17th June: Thursday's key planet is Jupiter, the ancient king of the gods. In general this is a symbol of good fortune, but we can't all have good luck at the same time. After all, one person's loss is another's gain, as they say. I think it's time to remember that, on the personal level, the future is what we make it. At least, that's the theory.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
You may imagine that your loyalty and devotion have been misplaced, but you really have very little to worry about. Today's stars place the emphasis on friendly gatherings and unusual solutions; the answers to old questions are closer than you think.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
Certain events can boost your confidence, but you may also risk overreaching yourself. You must make one last final effort to complete an outstanding task, but whether you complete everything now, or are obliged to wait until your next chance is another matter!

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
Aspects based around signs like Aquarius and Capricorn link your financial fortunes to legal questions, ethical issues or foreign contacts. Perhaps there is cash to be made on an overseas trip, or at least some advantage in tackling distant possibilities.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
What took place towards the end of last week must have made it apparent that you cannot go on as before. You are passing through one of the most decisive periods of the month, so make your choices and stick to them. Loved ones will respect your consistency.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
You may feel apprehensive and insecure, and quite right too. Unless you question your own motives you will fail to smarten up your act and make the necessary improvements in intimate relationships. You might also make a major financial blunder, so avoid rash promises.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
It is time for some light relief, but you'll be busy at work. You'll therefore have to keep all the balls in the air at the same time, juggling the different options with your usual consummate skill. You should be happiest when other people leave you alone to get on with your personal schemes.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Today's influences are more subtle than expected. You are not likely to achieve your ends or get a positive reaction from colleagues by setting out a clear programme of needs and desires. It is probably simpler to smile sweetly and agree – if only for the sake of peace and harmony.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
Once certain facts or items of information come to light, you will be able to get to grips with difficult or highly-charged situations. The family remains the main area of operations, so tread carefully, for you know how touchy people can be when there's a long history.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
What transpires during the early part of the coming week should set you on a new course, so you have plenty to look forward to. You really must spare as much time as you need to talk over your plans with anybody and everybody who is likely to be involved.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Venus may act as the catalyst for joint financial arrangements and you must be quick off the mark if you are to get the very best out of prosperous developments. In many ways, this is the best moment for agreement, mainly because you're prepared to countenance a break with your routine.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
You may have spent the last few months trying to avoid some sort of showdown, but you may now consider allowing secret evidence and suppressed feelings to come to the surface. It will be useful to clear the air, even if home truths do make you feel uncomfortable.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
You're not in full possession of the facts, so keep your emotions and temper in check a while longer and give yourself plenty of time to see that work is going as planned. If you can clear up a mystery in the process, so much the better. Don't forget to share your new insights with the people who need to know.

Allocated ₹168 crore, but state election panel gets only ₹25 lakh

Move indicates government not keen on holding TP, ZP polls till year-end due to Covid-19

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @Bengaluru

THE State Government has released Rs 25 lakh as against Rs 168 crore allocated in the budget to the State Election Commission (SEC), indicating that it is not keen on holding any elections, including the zilla and taluk panchayat polls, till the end of this year because of the prevailing Covid situation.

The State Government had earlier scheduled to hold taluk and zilla panchayat elections in May and June this year. But a few weeks ago, it decided to postpone them. Now, these elections are unlikely to be held till the end of this year.

The Rural Development and Panchayat Raj (RDPR) Department Under Secretary has issued an order stating that as there are no elections anytime soon, they are releasing only Rs 25 lakh to the SEC.RDPR sources said that the State does not have enough funds and also it does not want to take any risks by holding the elections during the pandemic. "The government is keen on cancelling the elections for this year and it may allow existing TP and ZP members to continue," they added.

State Election Commissioner B Basavaraju said that Covid cases are coming down, but the lockdown has not been lifted in many districts. "At least 10 districts still have a high number of Covid cases. Before April, we had directed all DCs to prepare for TP and ZP polls. Some of them had prepared the electoral rolls, but then Covid cases started going up and the government announced the lockdown. We need at least a month to prepare for elections," he added. Asked about the drastic cut in allocation to the SEC, he said that when polls are announced, they will approach the State Government for more funds.

"We would like to express our sincere, heartfelt thanks to IAI for its pro-active and timely support in providing a large number of oxygen concentrators to BEL. It is a kind, thoughtful and generous gesture from IAI to have extended a prompt helping hand to our employees and their families who are facing extreme hardship due to the Covid-19 pandemic," said Anandi Ramalingam.

Shivakumaran said the 100 oxygen concentrators will be dispatched for use at nine units spread across the country. "This critical care equipment is much needed during a time when we are facing shortage of oxygen, and can also be used for home care of our employees in case of emergency," he said.

Power games over pandemic for BJP, says DK Suresh

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Hassan

BJP leaders are fighting for power at a time when the state is in the throes of the Covid-19, Congress leader and Bengaluru Rural MP DK Suresh said. After staging a protest against the hike in fuel prices in Hassan, he told reporters that the BJP has no concern for farmers and the poor, who are worst-hit by the lockdown.

"BJP state in-charge Arun Singh is visiting the state only to resolve the party leadership issue, and not to discuss development issues, this shows the commitment of the BJP towards the state," he said. He alleged that BJP leaders have swindled crores of rupees in the guise of tackling the pandemic.

WILL ASK LEGISLATORS ABOUT WORK DURING COVID: SINGH

AS if to confirm worries of some legislators that Singh's visit would remain a mere eyewash, Arun Singh said any legislator is welcome to meet him albeit with a rider. "Let legislators come and meet me and hold talks. I will also ask them what they have been doing during the pandemic, how much time they have spent in their constituencies. We will talk," he said.

Singh is expected to meet legislators as well as chair the State Core Committee meeting on Thursday. Interestingly, Chief Minister BS Yediyurappa, who always has a packed schedule even on weekends due to the pandemic, has cleared out his entire schedule for Thursday. As per the list of programmes released by the Chief Minister's Office on Wednesday evening, Yediyurappa has the entire day "reserved".

Even as Singh claimed multiple times that leadership change was not on the table, Minister for RDPR KS Eshwarappa, for the first time, confirmed that attempts to unseat Yediyurappa were made. "Yes, it is true that people went to Delhi to ask for a leadership change. There is confusion and problems in the party, but we are working towards solving it. Ultimately, we will accept whatever the high command decides," Eshwarappa told reporters, though in an attempt to criticise the Congress for failing to "capitalise" on the confusion within State BJP.

Water Resources Minister CP Yogeeshwara, who flew down to Bengaluru from Hyderabad on Wednesday, also made no secret of him raising issues with Arun Singh. "I will not make public statements. Whatever my complaints are, I will raise them before Arun Singh," he said. Even as embers of leadership change continue to burn in the ashes of dissent, Singh remained focused on improving coordination between party and government on the first day of his visit.

Agro centres to tie up with Israel, help double farm income in India

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

ISRAEL can help the farmers of Karnataka increase productivity and thereby, double their income, Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa said here on Wednesday, as he virtually threw open Centres of Excellence in agriculture, along with Union Agriculture Minister Narendra Singh Tomar.

A collaboration between the two countries in this sector will improve quality and profitability, he said. The centres are located in Kolar, Bagalkot and Dharwad, and will provide scientific inputs and methodologies. Giving the example of the mango, he said the Alphonso, Mallika and Raspuri are local mango varieties but farmers have long been complaining of dwindling profitability. Innovative solutions can make the mango crop better again, the CM said.

Tomar said new methods would help not just production, but also post harvest management.

Israeli ambassador Ron Malka said the centres would help farm communities in India access them too. While the centre for mango cultivation is located in Kolar, the centre for pomegranate is in Bagalkot and the centre for vegetables is in Dharwad. The Bagalkot centre will introduce irrigation management based on precision agriculture through satellite imaging, fertigation and canopy management.

Israeli Consul General Jonathan Zadka told The New Indian Express, "We have set up three centres in Karnataka which is very encouraging. It strengthens the collaboration between Israel and Indian farmers."

Post-Covid challenges can affect productivity and mental well-being

'This is a protracted period of stress not known to present generation'

CHETANA BELAGERE @Bengaluru

THE Centre for Psychosocial Support in Disaster Management, which runs a helpline (080-4611 0007) at the NIMHANS, Bengaluru, gets at least 500 calls a month from Covid-19-recovered people from across sectors with serious complaints. These are emerging as a common trait in most recovered patients, which may go on to affect productivity at work and their own mental well-being.

The issues range from sleeplessness, anxiety, obsessive compulsive disorder, panic attacks, suicidal thoughts, no interest in work, wanting to quit and do nothing, Generalised Anxiety Disorder (person suffering persistent nervousness), irritability, poor concentration, panic disorders with panic attacks, phobia to get back to the office fearing crowds, anger and memory issues.

Several employees have reported anxieties and stress anticipating Covid-19 infection, subsequent isolation, hospitalisation, non-availability of medicines, oxygen and overall uncertainty regarding one's survival and that of near and dear ones during the pandemic. "Some employees have even quit their jobs to take time out to cope with their emotional distress caused during Covid. A few have quit as they feel they are unable to cope with work-related pressures. I am aware of a few who quit their jobs to be caregivers to family members who are coping after Covid infection," said Ashwini N V, Founder-Director, Muktha Foundation and a mental health professional with keen interests in promotion of community mental health.

Doctors call this a protracted period of stress like nothing our generation has ever known before. "For the first time, people are working for hours undefined, the boundaries between spouse and other family members are undefined. One tends to get involved in so many household activities with available time that productivity at work comes down," says Dr Mahesh Gowda, Director and Founder, Spandana Health Care.

He says many of his clients have had conflicts, heated arguments, disturbed moods, poor concentration, sleep, anger, frustration and work delivery issues. "Many have also picked up addictions, not just substance abuse, but also getting hooked to OTT platforms, etc. Depression and not socialising can lead to such issues at the workplace," he says.

Brand guru Harish Bijoor says, "The attitude of people has seen a sea change. This is about employees and employers alike. Employees have realised there is more to life than work. All of a sudden, there is a reassessment of life and people's priorities. There is a rejigging of passions. Family has become much more important than ever before."

Experts believe such effects are temporary. Dr Himani Kashyap, Associate Professor of Clinical Psychology, NIMHANS, says that when the mind is overwhelmed, we function on 'autopilot' mode, carrying out the bare minimum necessary for survival, but unable to do more.

"It helps to grieve, withdraw, cry, reach out to loved ones and then slowly do what brings us comfort or joy. Reading, walking, painting, music etc. help. The Pomodoro technique is a method of working for about 25 minutes with a clear and specific goal and taking a five-minute break. The exact times can be modified to suit our individual flow. The breaks must involve stepping away from one's desk. This allows for short bursts of focus interspersed with chances to reboot," she says.

WHAT SHOULD WE DO

FOR EMPLOYEES

- Rest and recoup
- Acknowledge it's okay to cry, grieve, withdraw
- Reach out to loved ones, doctor, mental health professional, employers
- Call suitable helpline numbers
- Do what you love to do—read, walk, listen to music, sketch, paint, pray, etc
- Avoid watching negative news
- Have fixed time for work and household chores
- Loving self is very important

FOR WORK PROGRESS

- Important to take small planned breaks
- Pomodoro technique-working for about 25 minutes with a clear and specific goal (e.g., 'finish writing this page'), and taking a 5-minute break
- The breaks must involve stepping away from one's desk — a walk down the corridor, a water break, a simple errand
- Breaking down work into smaller, manageable chunks and doing them one at a time will help complete tasks

FOR EMPLOYERS

- Provide safe, approachable environment at workplace
- Realistically revise performance standards, not be overambitious
- Informal/formal opportunities to support one another, like a buddy programme, a regular meeting space (online or outdoors, complying with Covid-19 norms)

Numbers just don't add up; Mysuru pandemic death figures raise questions

AJITH M S @Mysuru

LENDING credence to reports of discrepancies in the Covid-19 death toll in Mysuru district, data accessed by TNIE shows a huge difference in the official death count declared by the district administration and the toll recorded in the death registry.

While the district administration has said that 1,884 people have succumbed to the virus till June 14, data from the Directorate of Economics and Statistics (DES) puts the number at 3,323. These numbers correspond to the deaths where 'Covid-19' is mentioned as the cause, which can be identified by the use of International Classification of Diseases (ICD-10) code corresponding to the pandemic. Sources say that the death count was arrived at after reconciliation and was final.

Sources also added that there are over 600 pandemic deaths from various hospitals which are awaiting registration due to the delay in submission of ration cards, and this may push the numbers further up. This points to a glaring mismatch of Covid-19 death data with 1,439 deaths being unaccounted for. The number assumes significance, especially after the government announced compensation of Rs 1 lakh to BPL families that have lost an adult member to Covid-19.

According to data sourced from the DES, Mysuru district recorded a total of 1,222 deaths in March 2021, while in March 2020, there were 893 deaths. Similarly, during April 2021, there were 1,129 total deaths while in April 2020, it was 699.

The first Covid-19 death in Mysuru was recorded only in June 2020. A look at the Covid-19 deaths during the second wave reveals that during April 2021, the Mysuru district administration officially recorded only 150 pandemic deaths while in March, there were just 23 Covid-19 deaths. Experts feel that such a high year-on-year difference in deaths may not occur unless the pandemic deaths are underreported.

Recently, MLA Sa Ra Mahesh had accused the district administration and the previous district deputy commissioner of "fudging" Covid-19 data, claiming that there were 731 excess deaths in May alone. He produced records of Covid-19 cremations at city crematoriums.

Meanwhile, Mysuru Deputy Commissioner Bagadi Gautham, when asked about the allegations of under-reporting of deaths at a review meeting chaired by ministers, said that they are in the process of reconciling the data and added that it was not a one- or two-day process. He said their focus was now on containing the pandemic and added that he has asked all hospitals to report every death. District In-charge Minister S T Somashekher, who was also present at the meeting, said that no death will be hidden and that every complaint will be scrutinised.

Govt hiding deaths, says Congress

ENS @Bengaluru

THE Congress on Wednesday accused the State Government of suppressing the actual number of Covid-19 deaths and demanded an audit.

Congress leader H K Patil said that the Union and State governments failed to take adequate measures to fight the pandemic and instead, they are trying to suppress the actual numbers of deaths. "The government declared 33,033 Covid deaths up to June 14, but the actual numbers are much higher," he said. As per the state government's official note, the total number of deaths in the state between January 1 and June 13 is 3,27,985. They have stopped releasing death audit and numbers from last year," he said.

Patil said that in 2018-19, between January and June, the total number of deaths were 88,000. "When we extrapolate, it may have increased to around one lakh... but still there is a huge difference. It is inhuman for the government to suppress it," he said. He urged the government to give Rs 4 lakh compensation to families as per the National Disaster Management Act, and not just Rs 1 lakh, as announced by the CM.

Sputnik V coming to Bengaluru soon

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Hyderabad

DR Reddy's Laboratories announced on Wednesday that the limited pilot soft launch of the Russian vaccine for Covid-19, Sputnik V, that was initiated in Hyderabad on May 14, has now been scaled up to other cities such as Visakhapatnam, Bengaluru, Mumbai, Kolkata, Delhi, Baddi, Chennai, Miryalaguda and Kolhapur. More cities will be added in the next few days.

Dr Reddy's, in a press release, said that being a limited pilot phase presently, registration on CoWIN is not open yet for Sputnik. It will be thrown open at the time of the commercial launch, which will take place as soon as the pilot is in its last leg.

It said, "This pilot phase has allowed us to test our cold storage arrangements of -18°C temperature in these cities, CoWIN integration, track-and-trace and other logistical arrangements ahead of our commercial launch."

It further said, "Adequate numbers of cold chain units are being deployed, and the last-mile cold chain arrangement is being validated at every partner hospital to ensure seamless storage and handling of the vaccine. All necessary supply arrangements are being executed to ensure availability of both dose components in the right quantity and at the right time at partner hospitals. Once the pilot phase is completed, Dr Reddy's will announce the commercial launch of Sputnik V."

Public transport may restart with curbs next week

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

PUBLIC transport, albeit with restrictions, is likely to restart in the second phase of the unlock period. It is also likely that religious places will also be opened, but a final decision will be taken by the government after detailed consultations with the Technical Advisory Committee and other experts, BBMP Chief Commissioner Gaurav Gupta said on Wednesday.

Speaking to media, he said, even as Covid-19 cases are coming down, the virus is contagious and so decisions are being taken to ensure that there is no rise. He asserted that no relaxations will be announced before June 21. Markets cannot be opened up immediately as there could be overcrowding, leading to rise in cases. A decision on opening of malls, theatres and gyms is also yet to be taken. It has also been seen in the past that many people had gathered in religious places, leading to rise in cases, so the government is yet to take a final decision on this, he noted.

If pubic transport is allowed, discussions are on regarding allowing only 50% seating capacity. Citizens will have to be careful while moving around as the government, officials, front line warriors, health care workers and medical staff have worked over time to bring the situation under control, he said. The number of Covid Care Centres have been reduced, but they have not been dismantled. They could be opened up if required again, he added.

TAC for night curfew till June-end to contain Covid-19

BUT Dr CN Manjunath, Director, Jayadeva Institute of Cardiovascular Diseases, said, "If we do not follow Covid-appropriate behaviour we will be back to square one. Opening of closed markets, malls and shopping complexes should still be thought about. It can be allowed only if cases continue to drop in Bengaluru."

Meanwhile, the Technical Advisory Commitee (TAC) on Covid-19 pandemic has recommended that night curfew should be continued till June-end and public rallies, dharnas, fairs and festivals should be banned for the rest of the year.

While the second phase of unlocking will start from June 21, the third phase is expected to begin from July 5. Also, the number of people allowed in some of the restricted places will be relaxed depending on the situation.

Gyms and yoga centres, places of worship, cinema halls, sports clubs, clubhouses and public washrooms will have to wait till Unlock Phase-3.

The committee has also recommended that the lifting of night curfew and opening of schools and colleges should be decided separately.

In Sandur village, health staff inoculate farmers in their fields

KIRAN BALANNANAVAR @ Ballari

TO ensure that every resident of Karekoppa village in Sandur taluk gets vaccinated against Covid-19, the Ballari district administration has come up with a novel plan. Now, the health officials have started going to agricultural fields to vaccinate farmers after a few of them refused to get the jab at the primary health centre (PHC). Over the last two days, health workers, equipped with vaccines and other supplies, have vaccinated 50 farmers of the village at their fields itself even as they go about their work.

The initiative was taken up after farmers informed the health workers visiting the village that they could not visit the PHC as they had to work in the fields as it is sowing season.

Health workers vaccinate farmers in Sandur taluk recently | EXPRESS

District Health Officer Dr Janardhana H L said Ballari and Vijayanagara districts had earlier reported a high number of cases and fatalities. "Health Department staff worked hard to bring down the cases. They have been facing challenges in villages," he said.

"When our team visited Karekoppa village to convince the residents to take the vaccine, we were informed that many of them had gone to the fields. Hence, we decided to go to the fields and vaccinate them. A team of three doctors and six ASHA workers are visiting the fields and vaccinating the farmers. More farmers will be vaccinated in the coming days," Dr Kushal Raj, Taluk Health Officer of Sandur, told TNIE.

Basavaraj P, a resident, said that since cultivation has begun with the onset of monsoon, each day was important for a good harvest. "Some people who took the vaccine said they had to rest for three days. Each day is important for farmers. Therefore, many avoided taking the jab," he explained.

A 28-year-old rowdy-sheeter of Chandra Layout police station, who had 11 cases against him, has been detained under the Goonda Act. Police said Abdullah A has committed 11 crimes in four years since 2017, and was involved in offences like attempt to murder, assault on policemen, and extortion.

DJ HALLI RIOTS: HC ALLOWS BAIL PLEAS OF ACCUSED

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

NOTING that the extension of time for completion of investigation on the application filed by prosecution, without notifying it to the accused, would frustrate their indefeasible right for statutory bail, the Karnataka High Court set aside the order passed by the trial court to extend the period of investigation to the National Investigation Agency (NIA) in the DJ Halli and KG Halli riots case, terming it the same as being 'bad in law'.

The HC also allowed applications filed by 115 accused seeking 'default bail', subject to conditions.

It noted that the application filed by the prosecution seeking more time for investigation was not notified either to the accused or to their advocates, a day after their custody was extended. Even the requirement of law laid down by the Supreme Court in the case of Sanjay Dutt has not been complied with. However, the application filed by the prosecution was allowed on the very same day, while the accused were not made aware that such an application was filed and considered, the court added.

Justice S Vishwanath Shetty passed the order, while allowing a batch of petitions filed by Muzammil Pasha and others. The accused were booked under provisions of the Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act, IPC and Prevention of Damage to Public Property Act. They were arrested by on August 12, 2020.

Apart from challenging the order passed by the trial court on November 3, 2020 on the application filed by the NIA, the accused have also questioned the order dated January 5, 2021, passed by that court rejecting their plea seeking default bail.

Since NIA could not complete the investigation within the stipulated 90 days, it sought an extension by another 90 days, which was granted.

With the expiry of the period, the accused had filed the application before the trial court, praying for grant of statutory bail for the default of the prosecution.

B'luru police chief asked to explain officer's affidavit

BENGALURU: Taking serious exception to the conduct of an IPS officer for filing an affidavit stating that noise regulation rules drafted in 2000 need to be revisited, considering local area regulations and current traffic conditions, instead of taking action against the use of loudspeakers at religious places, violating rules in the city, the Karnataka HC on Wednesday directed the City Police Commissioner to file an affidavit, explaining the officer's conduct.

IN THE HC

The court also sought to know why no action was taken on complaints over violation of noise regulations, though it was their obligation to act upon them. A division bench of Chief Justice Abhay Shreeniwas Oka and Justice Suraj Govindaraj passed the order after going through the affidavit filed by K Santosh Babu, DCP, Intelligence, in compliance with the directions issued by court, with regard to a PIL filed by Girish Bharadwaj drawing attention to disturbance to people confined at home, due to the use of loudspeakers.

Court: Won't interfere in decision on NEET

DECLINING to interfere with the Union Government's decision to hold NEET beyond August 31, 2021, due to the pandemic, the Karnataka High Court dismissed a public interest litigation questioning the decision.

A division bench of Justice BV Nagarathna and Justice Hanchate Sanjeevkumar dismissed the petition filed by Late GB Kulkarni Memorial Legal Trust, represented by president Dr Vinod G Kulkarni from Hubballi.

Kulkarni, who is consulting neuropsychiatrist and lawyer, moved the court seeking direction to the State and Central governments to ensure that NEET should not be postponed for a period of four months, from the earlier stipulated date of April 18, 2021.

The petitioner claimed that on account of postponement of NEET, doctors and aspirants for postgraduate studies are suffering from stress, anxiety and depression as their plans to study have been unsettled.

When all other examinations are being conducted during the current Covid-19 pandemic, there was no reason to postpone NEET, he argued.

In a counter, justifying the Union government's decision, Assistant Solicitor General MB Naragund submitted that NEET aspirants, those doing internships as well as final year MBBS and nursing students have been recruited to assist doctors in attending to Covid-19 patients, owing to the severe nature of the pandemic.

They would require time to prepare for the test. Hence, it was decided to postpone the exam. The new date will be notified, giving sufficient time to prepare for the test, he argued.

Committees headed by DCs appointed for preservation of lakes

The Karnataka HC has appointed District Level Committees headed by DCs to implement court orders with regard to restoration/rejuvenation of lakes in all districts. Member Secretaries of the District Legal Services Authorities will be the Secretaries of the Committees. In addition, there should be three higher-level officers in the district from the forest department, minor irrigation department, Karnataka State Pollution Control Board and CEO of Zilla Panchayat, as members, the court said. A division bench of Chief Justice Abhay Shreeniwas Oka and Justice Ashok S Kinagi said that the District Level Committee will monitor the implementation of the court orders in relation to maintenance, preservation and development of lakes in the entire district, except the Municipal Corporations.

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

KANNADA actor and activist Chetan Kumar, against whom a complaint was filed in Basavanagudi police station for allegedly making derogatory statements against Brahmins, was questioned by the police for about four hours on Wednesday.

The Basavanagudi police, who had registered an FIR against the actor on June 10, had issued him a notice on Tuesday, asking him to appear for inquiry. Sources said the actor was questioned by an officer of the rank of an ACP. "About 30 questions - like did he post the video, if so on what basis, and what was the intention behind it - were asked to him, and he has answered them. He has been asked to come for inquiry again on Friday," an official said.

Speaking to reporters later, Chetan said he will continue to fight against discrimination in society. "My fight is not against any community. It is against the discrimination meted out to the people socially and financially. I have complete faith in our judicial system," he said.

6 Maoists killed in 'encounter' with Greyhounds

Police had launched combing operation in Teegalametta forest to question them

Vizag police recover a huge cache of weapons, including an AK-47 rifle and explosives

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Visakhapatnam

SIX Maoists, including three women, were killed in a major exchange of fire with the police in the dense Teegalametta forest area under Mampa police station in Koyyuru mandal in the district Wednesday morning. Police said the Greyhounds and Special Police parties, on reliable information about the movement of top Maoists in the area, launched a combing operation in Teegalametta forest area to apprehend them.

The two sides came face to face around 10 am leading to exchange of fire. After the firing subsided from the other side, the police found bodies of six slain Maoists. A huge cache of weapons, including AK-47 rifle, carbine, .303, Tapancha, country made weapons along with Maoist literature, kit bags and explosive materials were recovered from the encounter site.

Soon after the encounter, additional police forces were rushed to the Koyyur forest area to track down those who escaped into the forests. Sources said suspecting top Maoist leaders have escaped, police are continuing combing in the forest area and also launched aerial combing by deploying helicopters.

This is the second major encounter after 2016 Ramuguda encounter when over 30 Maoists were killed.

Among the deceased, one woman is yet to be identified. The others were identified as Ranadev alias Arjun (DCM), Sande Gangiah alias Ashok (DCM), Santu Nachika (ACM), Lalitha (PM), Paike (PM). Police suspect a few more Maoists suffered injuries and have escaped into the deep forests.

The police have appealed to the Maoists, who suffered injuries, to surrender and assured them of best possible medical treatment.

Though the Maoist active had come down considerably over the past few decades, the killing of the then MLA Kidari Sarveswarao and former MLA Siveri Soma on September 23, 2018 had once again made the presence of Maoists felt in the agency areas. The two leaders were shot dead at point blank after holding a praja court.

HEAVY RAIN BRINGS HIGHWAY WOES TO FORE

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Belagavi

THE incomplete work on the stretch of Khanapur-Anmod NH4A is posing a threat to motorists. Incessant rains for the past couple of days have turned potholes into craters, leaving motorists to struggle along the route. The road work is incomplete as it was abruptly stopped because of a petition filed by environmentalists against cutting thousands of trees.

Apart from facing a huge inconvenience, loaded trucks and motorists too find it difficult to navigate which may result in accidents.

While the work on 25-km stretch of NH4A between Khanapur and Belagavi is almost complete, the negligence of Uttara Kannada MP Anant Kumar Hegde is the reason for the delay in completion, allege residents of Khanapur taluk.

Though Khanapur taluk comes under the same parliamentary constituency, Hegde has not made many attempt to get clearance from the Centre to complete the work. Several pleas by activists, residents and a few elected representatives for the completion of road work have fell on deaf ears.

The 55-km Khanapur-Anmod stretch, which was littered with potholes, has almost become unmotorable after the incessant rains over the last few days | EXPRESS

Dinkar Maragale, a Khanapur-based activist, said,"The road comes under the jurisdiction of the Centre. It is the elected MP who has to plead with the Centre in getting clearance for the road. He added that Khanapur Congress MLA Anjali Nimbalkar has also written to Union Minister Nitin Gadkari requesting the latter to take up the matter on priority.

Not just fires, tech will help detect change in K'taka forest cover too

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

KARNATAKA forest department is not just using technology to detect and control forest fires, they are also using it to check modification in land use. For the last three months, successful trials are going on and the project will be officially announced soon.

The forest department has digitised all their land records and base maps as old as 1970 and compared that with the revenue department records for verification. With the help of ISRO and Karnataka State Remote Sensing Applications Centre (KSRSAC), the forest department has digitised 80 per cent of the data.

"Normally, land use surveys used to be done while patrolling on foot or during revenue surveys. Now with the help of satellite images and algorithms, any change in land use can be instantly detected. The changes include encroachment, chopping of trees or drying up of water bodies. This is the first of its kind in India," a senior forest department official told TNIE.

With the help of ISRO and Karnataka State Remote Sensing Applications Centre, the forest department has digitised 80 per cent of its data

Explaining how it works, the official said that the image is first placed on the base map, and once the change is ascertained, the image is captured and sent to the concerned division for action. The images are sent through an in-house portal, along with an SMS alert.

The concerned deputy conservator of forest or range forest officer will have to visit the spot and check the modifications, take action and make a report. For example, in Ballari, a land owner chopped trees in the forest fringe. This was captured through a satellite and an alert was sent to the concerned division. It was later revealed that two rubber trees were axed.

"Normally, any check on encroachment, trees reduced to stumps or any other activity is found only after two to three months, sometimes even later. But now, we get a fair idea within 21 days, as that is the cycle duration of each location on a 10:10 scale," he said and added that they are trying to reduce the number of days.

"Right now, we are trying to address the cloud cover issue by using radar satellites. Work is also being done to detect cases in buffer zones and outside forest areas," the official added.

WORKERS IN A FIX

Arrange public transport for staff: Industries to govt

RAMACHANDRA V GUNARI
@ Shivamogga

DESPITE the government relaxing rules for MSMEs and other factories to commence operations after phase-1 of unlock was announced, most of the industrial estates are suffering from absenteeism as the workforce is unable to reach due to non-availability of transport.

The government's move to facilitate MSME operations from June 14 with 50 per cent of workforce has received a setback as, at many industrial areas across the state, the turnout has been low over the last three days. A majority of the workers depends on public transport to reach their place of work situated on the outskirts of cities.

"Only those living near industrial estates and those who have their own vehicles are working for the time being," said Ramesh Hegde, chairman of Machenahalli Industrial Area (MIA).

The Karnataka Small Scale Industries Association (KASSIA) convened a Zoom meeting with the stakeholders of various industrial estates in the state on Wednesday evening to discuss the various issues theu are facing. "The meeting debated in length about the non-availability of public transport. The Tumakuru Industries Association highlighted that the workers' turnout is very less as they are unable to commute to factories situated about 20 km from the town. The Mysore Industries Association also highlighted this issue," said Ramesh Hegde.

KASSIA chairman Arasappa, in a statement, said, "As public transport is yet to be restored, it is difficult for workers to attend their duties," he said. Even in Bengaluru, employee turnout is less as they are unable to reach to their places of work, Arasappa pointed out.

"For some industries, which work in shifts, it is very difficult for workers to reach in the noon or in the evening hours. Industrialists are not in a position to introduce bus facilities as transportation costs have soared," several industrialists said. The KASSIA has urged the government to permit a few public transport services directly to these industrial estates at regular intervals.

No calf serum in Covaxin, Bharat Biotech & Centre clarify

Hyderabad: After Congress leader Gaurav Pandhi, on Wednesday morning, cited an RTI reply and claimed on Twitter that Covaxin contains the blood of a newborn calf of a cow, both the vaccine's maker Hyderabad-based Bharat Biotech and the Union Ministry of Health and Family Welfare (MoHFW) went on damage-control mode and by afternoon, came out with a fact-check report denying the claim. The vaccine maker as well as the Union Ministry pointed out that while serum from a newborn calf is used in the process prior to manufacturing the vaccine — like it has been for many years — the final product, the vaccine, does not contain serum/blood of a newborn calf.

TN zoo loses another lion to Covid, samples sent for genome sequencing

SV KRISHNA CHAITANYA @ Chennai

CLEARLY, all is not well at the Arignar Anna Zoological Park (AAZP) at Vandalur in Chennai. It has earned the dubious distinction of losing two young Asiatic lions to Covid-19 within a fortnight. On Wednesday morning, a male lion, Pathbanathan, aged 12, succumbed to the disease, with no comorbidities. Meanwhile, other infected older lions, that were critical, are now showing signs of recovery.

Pathbanathan's samples had tested positive for SARS-CoV-2, along with the deceased lioness, Neela, and seven others by the National Institute of High Security Animal Diseases (NIHSAD), Bhopal, on June 3. Naga Sathish Gidijala, Deputy Director of Vandalur Zoo, told TNIE that Pathbanathan was healthy and showed no symptoms, except for an occasional cough, until four to five days back.

"We are currently in a state of grief. He started refusing food about five days back and his health deteriorated rapidly, despite our veterinarians trying all possible ways to recuperate him, in consultation with experts from TANUVAS," said Sathish.

A variety of food, ranging from chicken soup, mutton soup, rabbit, mutton and beef, was offered to Pathbanathan, but he refused it all. The lion developed breathing difficulties on Tuesday, which is when the zoo authorities brought in an oxygen cylinder. "With great difficulty, we put him on oxygen support and he was breathing normally. But, he breathed his last at 10.15 am on Wednesday," said Sathish.

The lion's carcass was incinerated following protocols, before collecting a few tissue and blood samples for further analysis.

2 held for stealing copper wires from railway tracks

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

THE Government Railway Police (GRP) on Wednesday caught two thieves red-handed in their attempt to steal copper from overhead electrical wires on railway tracks in the South Western Railway Zone. They were part of a six-member gang, who had stolen 400 metres of copper wire, valued at nearly Rs 4 lakh in the market, in the last one week.

The thefts had been carried out on the tracks between Anegere and Hulkoti Railway stations, which fall on the route between Hosapete and Gadag, police said.

GRP Vijayapura Circle Inspector D B Patil told TNIE that Ravi Parsappa and a minor boy (name withheld) were found roaming on a bike early on Wednesday morning.

"Our constables carrying found them moving around in a suspicious manner on the road near the track. They had with them a bag with equipment used for cutting. They were nabbed, and on interrogation, confessed to the copper wire theft. They led the team to a spot where they had concealed 200 metres of the stolen wire," Patil said. The duo were booked under Section 379. The other individuals, Nagesh, Sidhu, Arjun, and another Ravi, are absconding, and a search is on to nab them, he added.

"The modus operandi of the gang was to scale the electrical poles near the railway tracks under the cover of darkness and cut whatever they could from the wires running above that are laid for electrification. With one metre of copper wire fetching at least ₹1,000 in the market, it turned out to be good money for them," the inspector said.

ENS @ Bengaluru

THE Halasur Gate police have registered an FIR, in connection with the assault on a 40-year-old business recently.

In its June 12 edition, TNIE had reported that the police had refused to register an FIR and had taken up a non-cognisable report though the complainant, Ibrahim Shariff, who had sustained injuries in the incident.

EXPRESS IMPACT

The police had then claimed that the complainant was in an inebriated state and had injured himself in a fall. Following TNIE's report in, the Halsur Gate police registered an FIR on Monday. The police booked Faizal and his brother Fahad for assault and criminal intimidation. Faizal, who allegedly owed Rs 7.50 lakh to the complainant's brother, had made repeated calls to Shariff in the wee hours of May 15, asking him to come out of the house. LAWS MISUSED BY GOVTS TO GAG LEGITIMATE DISSENT

The bail granted to student-activists Natasha Narwal, Devangana Kalita and Asif Tanha by the Delhi High Court needs to be seen in perspective. Tuesday's pronouncements were only a bail order. The activists have not been absolved of any of the charges they face as the court did not go into the evidence placed against them. But the order does two things: Firstly, it is a severe reprimand of the prosecution, in this case the Delhi Police, which has the potential to weaken the case. Secondly and more importantly, the court has protected the rights of individuals against the abuse and excesses of state power. Questioning the use of the stringent Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act against the students, the court observed that the police, in order to "suppress dissent", misused "grave and serious penal provisions" of the Act against the activists.

The UAPA's origins lie in the trying times India was going through in the mid-60s. India had not yet acquired the military and economic heft of today. The country was badly bruised in the war against China in 1962 and its integrity was further threatened by political parties with secessionist calls. It is in this backdrop that Parliament passed the UAPA in 1967 on the recommendations of the Committee on National Integration and Regionalisation set up by the National Integration Council. The law was envisioned to be used only against secessionist forces. Lately, it has been used to curb terrorism. The law was not even remotely conceived of as a means to gag legitimate dissent against the state. But, as the court said, the lines have blurred and it has been abused for political and sectional ends.

The HC's order, coupled with the Supreme Court's recent pronouncement that it will define the parameters of the sedition clause, will hopefully strengthen the rule of law. Democratically elected governments are supposed to uphold Abraham Lincoln's dictum of by the people, for the people and of the people. But the misuse of such laws by all governments, irrespective of the political hue, is increasing by the day. But for the courts, such transgressions would have continued without hindrance, impunity and regret. This has to end.

THE KCR EFFECT ON REGIONAL OUTFITS

Even the last vestiges of the Telugu Desam Party are set to disappear from Telangana, with its state president L Ramana dropping enough hints that sooner than later he would be bidding adieu to the party. He is warming up to the TRS as it is the party that is doing well now. When Ramana takes that final leap of faith into the TRS, the TDP—founded in 1982 in Hyderabad by N T Rama Rao—would slip into history's dustbin in Telangana, the way the YSRC did earlier. In the last Assembly elections, only two candidates won on the TDP ticket in Telangana and adding insult to the party chief's injury, they subsequently joined the TRS. The molecular disintegration of the TDP and YSRC in Telangana, while they are still active in Andhra, points to an emerging phenomenon: that a regional party cannot survive in more than one state.

Though the TDP styled itself as a national party after Telangana's formation, for all practical purposes it is limited to Andhra. Similarly, the YSRC too is now restricted to AP though it tried to increase its footprint by contesting in Telangana in 2014, but won only three seats in the Assembly and one in the Lok Sabha. Quick in understanding the implications of the political churn, the YSRC declared it was not interested in contesting subsequent polls in Telangana. Lending credence to the argument that "outsiders" are not welcome in Telangana, people's response remains muted to Y S Sharmila's attempts to enter the Telangana political arena under the banner of YSR Telangana party. The Andhra CM's sister has claimed that she has nothing to do with the YSRC but people are not convinced. As she is the daughter of the late YSR who was against the creation of Telangana, they are wary. Her attempts to connect with people by training her guns at KCR have not made much impression. If a strong regional party with moorings in Telangana emerges, it can force the TRS to cede space but that too is a distant possibility at this juncture. Outfits like the Telangana Jana Samiti, founded by Prof M Kodandaram who was at the forefront of the Telangana movement, fell flat in the electoral battlefield, showing that a leader needs to be a suave politician too.

He was inspired by a Greek poet named Archilochus, who had written, "The fox knows many things, but the hedgehog knows one big thing"—a generalist versus a specialist. Transformation leaders should have generalist skills.

Leaders desire that the execution of their change programme be perceived as predictable and well-thought-out. In practice, semblances of order are accompanied by lots of chaos. Uncertainty is an essential part of transformation. For animals, uncertainty is a way of life. When faced with danger, both humans and animals rearrange internal resources to meet the oncoming challenge—the amygdala hijack. In general, human beings yearn for predictability, animals perhaps less so.

Take an example. Cave crickets live in extreme conditions of darkness and dampness. Cave crickets are usually eyeless and anyway, eyes are of little use in dark caves. To survive and grow, the cave cricket develops feelers, which are four times the length of their body. This enables them to feel their way around the dark cave. Imagine a human being whose legs and arms can reach out 20-25 feet!

A transforming organisation could be highly focused but muddling and adaptation are inevitable. A leader may choose to disregard views and sentiments of stakeholders but being mindful of them is important. Transformation agendas need continuous recalibration based on signals. Apart from the court of law, the court of public opinion matters. Optics are important, though they may not always dictate actions. The courts of law and public opinion may well be divergent.

A popular perception is that the US "lost" the Vietnam War. The fact is that the US lost 58,220 troops against over a million of the Viet Cong. However, the residual optics of the 1968 Tet Offensive created the lasting legend that the US lost the Vietnam War.

Nestle India lacked sensitive antennae in the early stages of the Maggi noodles crisis. Suresh Narayanan, Chairman of Nestle India, was brought in from an overseas posting. He has described, through his public presentations, how he went about setting up required antennae to feel the way forward for the company. The response packaged together both the order and chaos.

The UB Group of companies went through dramatic growth and transformation over the last 20 years. About five years ago, Kingfisher, a UB company, defaulted on repayment of bank loans. Kingfisher failed to pay salaries. Meanwhile, Vijay Mallya visibly celebrated his birthday in Goa. Technically speaking, the shareholder's liability is limited to the share capital. Mallya was entitled to spend his personal money. The optics, however, were unfavorable. In the court of public opinion, Vijay Mallya stood condemned very early on.

The telecom industry in India underwent dramatic transformation during the last 30 years.

> A popular perception is that the US 'lost' the Vietnam War. The fact is that the US lost 58,220 troops against over a million of the Viet Cong. However, the residual optics of the 1968 Tet Offensive created the lasting legend that the US lost the Vietnam War

Convulsions occurred every few years from the early Sukh Ram days to the 2G episode. The 2G controversy was settled through the long-winded process of law. However, in the court of public opinion, the UPA lost the case much earlier. Optics are important.

Farm bills were hurried through in 27 days—from introduction of the bills to presidential assent. The average time for the passage of bills is 150 days. Protagonists credibly argue that the process was legitimate because "an elected government took it through Parliament". However, in the court of public opinion, the bills were not accepted, as evidenced by the prolonged and ongoing protests by farmers apart from the paralysis of implementation.

The Telangana government wants additional district collectors to have a Kia car to do their duties. Expenses would be ₹11 crore. The BJP opposes the move because of the pandemic. The optics will be important.

The BJP and protagonists have rationally argued about the essentiality of the Central Vista Project (CVP). It has even earned the approval of the court of law so far. In the court of public opinion, however, CVP is and will remain a continuing controversy. Many feel that the pandemic pains of the public make the timing of the CVP inappropriate. Could it be postponed by six months? Should the CVP be perceived as akin to a wealthy man hosting a lavish wedding in town while common people face penury and starvation?

Recall that, like the CVP, a magnificent Delhi Durbar was held three times—in 1877, 1903 and 1911. The first two were lavish coronation events of absent British monarchs; they were held while Indians faced a massive famine and thousands of citizens were in relief camps. The 1911 Durbar coincided with the launch of the Lutyens Delhi, which is, once again, at the centre of the CVP. Bengalis use an expression, hathabhaga, to describe something repeatedly unfortunate. Is the Delhi Durbar hathabhaga? Optics are an important consideration.

IS BLUE DOT NETWORK AN ALTERNATIVE TO CHINA'S BRI?

SHANKARI SUNDARARAMAN

Professor at School of International Studies, JNU, New Delhi

ASIAN AXIS

Even as the geopolitical situation in the Indo-Pacific has seen the vagaries of the Sino-US rivalry in the recent past, the launch of the Executive Consultation Group for reviving the Blue Dot Network (BDN) took place in Paris on 7 June 2021. This group will work under the auspices of the Organisation for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD) to look at the potential to offer quality infrastructure investments in the Indo-Pacific region. The BDN as it has come to be known, particularly as an alternative to the BRI, is increasingly pitting countries promoting the liberal order against the Chinese authoritarian order. The BDN looks at promoting investment in high-level infrastructure that is based on maintaining international standards, and seeks to enhance the governance towards the furthering of best practices while promoting open markets as the option to link these projects together. This brings the focus more on the geo-economics of the region, as the Indo-Pacific is emerging as the core of the global rivalry between the US and its allies and China. Increasingly as newer players are entering into the Indo-Pacific region with the aim to further the existing normative order, the space for addressing challenges in the region is providing the opportunity to explore newer areas of collaboration. The Blue Dot Network is emerging as one such area.

The idea of the BDN took shape under the Trump administration in November 2019 and was unveiled at the 35th ASEAN Summit that was held in Bangkok. In some senses this was similar to the announcement of the Silk Road Economic Belt initiative that Chinese President Xi Jinping unveiled in September 2013 as part of his state visit to Indonesia, for the inauguration of the Asian Infrastructure Investment Bank (AIIB). Both these initiatives were unveiled in Southeast Asian capitals, clearly emphasising the importance of the region in their calculations, as the area remains vital to issues of connectivity in the wider Indo-Pacific.

The view of the BRI solely as an economic outreach initiative is becoming myopic. Progressively countries have expressed concerns over the manner in which the BRI is pushing states into a debt trap, even as vulnerabilities are beginning to creep in over the limits of a country's strategic autonomy that can be impaired as a factor of the debt trap. The question that raises concerns particularly about the BRI are the motives that drive the construction of certain deep sea ports in the Indo-Pacific region: These do not seem to have any operational viability, raising the question as to why the Chinese are willing to continue these projects. The cost of building these ports without a clear sense of their feasibility has been a source of concern for those observing Beijing's rapid expansion of infrastructure capabilities in a region where several smaller states are critically starved for infrastructure and are drawing closer to the Chinese fold through their vulnerability and openness for infrastructure investments from that nation.

> The core agenda of the Blue Dot Network is to assist smaller nations in developing quality infrastructure, particularly focusing on the need to promote transparency related to investments. This critically emphasised, by implication, that the BRI was not transparent

With regards to the BDN, initially the region did not respond with much enthusiasm—especially as the Trump administration had little time for ASEAN, as was evident from the repeated absence of the US president in key ASEAN meetings, his preoccupation with China and the trade war that was raging. Earlier efforts of the Obama administration to promote the idea of an Indo-Pacific Economic Corridor (IPEC) also have not seen much progress in the region, particularly given the enormous costs involved in linking the overland routes between South and Southeast Asia through a network of road, railway and maritime port linkages.

The core agenda of the Blue Dot Network is to assist smaller countries in developing quality infrastructure that would comply with international certification, particularly focusing on the need to promote transparency and openness related to the investments. This critically emphasised, by implication, that the BRI was not transparent and did not adhere to international certification standards. In January 2020, the European Union Chamber of Commerce in China carried out a survey that revealed lack of transparency in procurements as a key factor that limited the participation of European companies. As China's relations with other key economic partners has deteriorated, the focus of regional countries endorsing the BRI has seen a significant change. Australia, a key economic partner of China, publicly pulled out of the BRI in April 2021 after the two countries saw a rapid decline in bilateral ties since early last year. India, which has rejected the BRI on grounds of violation of its territory, has seen a drastic dip in bilateral ties with China. New Delhi will not be open to any shift in its position on the BRI, given the sovereignty violations and the Beijing-Islamabad nexus promoted through the China Pakistan Economic Corridor (CPEC). The BDN actually offers India a better opportunity to cooperate with its partners in the Quad to develop its strategies in consonance with countries with which it is closely aligned to promote the vision of a free and open Indo-Pacific. As the US, Australia and Japan push the initiative forward, India would be better served by deepening its relations with its Quad partners.

Right to dissent

The Delhi High Court's order granting bail to the student activists charged under the stringent UAPA in the Delhi riots case is another example of the higher judiciary's firm reiteration of the constitutional right of people to dissent and protest. It also exposed a total lack of professionalism on the part of the Delhi police. Governments across the country must take note of the court's observations. One hopes the Supreme Court will lay down certain mandatory criteria for UAPA invocation by investigating agencies to prevent its gross misuse.
S K Choudhury, Bengaluru

Don't use this as an excuse

The Delhi High Court's observations that dissent is a key feature of democracy and all of it cannot attract action under the UAPA is correct. But this should not become a reason for governments to underplay serious protests that border on extraterritorial loyalties and incite communalism for the sake of votes.

Need separate department

This is with reference to Take care of Covid orphans (Jun 16). The editorial rightly highlights the untold misery of Covid orphans. What is needed is a committed and sympathetic network of organisations that can work 24/7 to identify such orphans and do the needful for them in conjunction with social welfare departments of state and Central governments. A separate department for the rehabilitation of Covid orphans could perhaps be considered urgently for better implementation of social welfare plans.
K Nehru Patnaik, Visakhapatnam

Govts must cooperate

The pandemic has left a permanent scar on the minds of the children who lost both their parents. Though the Centre and state governments have announced several schemes for them, it is important that a proper system of identifying these children be put in place. Governments must cooperate with each other to rehabilitate them.

Don't lower your guard

This is with reference to Getting ready for the third corona wave (June 16). The authors have rightly highlighted that even a single case of Covid left unnoticed could lead to a repeat of the whole cycle of adversity. In anticipation of the third wave, let us not lower our guard.
C Ghanshyam, Visakhapatnam

Follow safety protocols

Experts say that the third wave of Covid could be as intense as the second. However, its impact can be minimised by doing two things: improving the health infrastructure in the country, including in rural pockets, and vaccinating the maximum number of people as fast as possible. We also need to continue to follow safety protocols stringently.

Helping auto & taxi drivers

The decision of Andhra Pradesh CM Jagan Mohan Reddy to dole out `10,000 each to the business-deprived auto and taxi drivers for the third consecutive year is a welcome measure. These service providers were among the worst sufferers during the lockdown period. This financial aid will go a long way in helping them out economically. Other state governments too should use this as an example and come up with a plan to help taxi and auto drivers.

Portuguese ace's record

Portuguese ace football player Cristiano Ronaldo showed his class and ability yet again by leading his country to an impressive 3-0 win against Hungary in the Euro Cup opener in Budapest. The striker has now scored 11 goals in the tournament, surpassing the Euro record of nine, set by Michel Platini in 1984.

FIR in Ghaziabad against Twitter, scribes & others

Cops claim tweets on old man beaten up not verified, could upset communal harmony

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Lucknow

An FIR has been registered by Ghaziabad Police in Uttar Pradesh against Twitter and seven others, including journalists and a leading news portal, for posting 'unverified facts' about the recent thrashing of an elderly man in West UP district's Loni Road area.

Nine entities, including Twitter Inc, Twitter India, Twitter Communications India Pvt, news portal The Wire and journalists Muhmad Zubair, Rana Ayyub and Saba Naqvi, and others have been booked under IPC Section 153 (wantonly giving provocation to riot), 153A (promoting enmity between different groups), 295A (acts intended to outrage religious feelings), 505 (statements conducing public mischief), 120B (criminal conspiracy) and 34 (crime with common intent), DIG of Ghaziabad Amit Pathak said.

"Facts mentioned in the tweets were unverified and not true. The matter was presented in a different manner, which was likely to disturb communal harmony. No one has the right to present such a serious matter as per their own wishes," added Pathak. He said investigations into the assault on the elderly man revealed that the contents in the FIR that he was kidnapped by four men and taken to jungles were not true. Instead, the probe revealed the man had been called to by the prime accused to his house. "Despite the police putting actual facts of the case on all possible platforms, some enitities continued to post wrong and unverified facts," Pathak said.

According to Ghaziabad Police, an FIR was registered on June 7, in which the man named Abdul Samad Saifi alleged that unidentified men had taken him to an isolated spot and beat him up, forcing him to chant Jai Sri Ram.

Reacting to the FIR against him, journalist Zubair tweeted on Wednesday that he has deleted the videos. "The victim's version of him being forced to chant Jai Shri Ram at this point in time do not seem to add up based on my conversations with police authorities." Ayyub, another journalist, tweeted "The tweets I had shared earlier about the attack on Abdul were based on a video and various news reports, published by print and electronic media. In view of the cops claiming a different narrative, I shall wait for the truth to prevail at the earliest."

No calf serum in final vaccine: Health ministry

Cong leader shows RTI document to support claim

Congress leader Gaurav Pandhi has claimed that Covaxin made by Bharat Biotech contains serum of newborn calf. He shared an RTI document on Twitter, which was the response from the Central Drugs Controller General to RTI applicant Vikas Patni. "In an RTI response, the Modi Govt has admitted that Covaxin consists newborn calf serum .....which is a portion of clotted blood obtained from less than 20 days young calves, after slaughtering them. This is heinous! This information should have been made public before."

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

CONTESTING social media claims on Covaxin, the Union Health Ministry said on Wednesday that facts were 'twisted and misrepresented' in the posts. Meanwhile, Bharat Biotech said in a clarification that newborn calf serum was used in manufacturing of viral vaccines, but not in the final formulation.

"There have been some social media posts regarding composition of the COVAXIN vaccine where it has been suggested that COVAXIN vaccine contains newborn calf serum," said the ministry.

"Newborn calf serum is used only for preparation/growth of vero cells. Different kinds of bovine and other animal serum are standard enrichment ingredient used globally for vero cell growth. Vero cells are used to establish cell lines which help in production of vaccines. This technique has been used for decades in polio, rabies, and influenza vaccines," the ministry said.

> The final vaccine (Covaxin) does not contain newborn calf serum at all and the calf serum is not an ingredient of the final vaccine product
> Health ministry statement

"These vero cells, after the growth, are washed with water, with chemicals (also technically known as buffer), many times to make it free from the newborn calf serum. These vero cells are infected with corona virus for viral growth.

"The vero cells are completely destroyed in the process of viral growth. Thereafter this grown virus is also killed (inactivated) and purified. This killed virus is then used to make the final vaccine, and in the final vaccine formulation no calf serum is used. Hence, the final vaccine does not contain newborn calf serum at all and the calf serum is not an ingredient of the final vaccine product," the statement said.

"Bovine serum is widely used in the manufacture of vaccines globally for decades. The usage of new born calf serum was transparently documented in the following publications since the last nine months," said the statement.

This comes after the Congress party's national coordination for digital communication and social media, Gaurav Pandhi tweeted an RTI response to one Vikas Patni from the Central Drugs Standard Control Organisation on the contents of Covaxin. It accused the Centre of betraying the 'faith and belief' of people.

Legal battle against rebel leaders to go on, vows cornered Chirag

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

LEFT to fend for himself by his party, Lok Janshakti Party leader Chirag Paswan on Wednesday said in Delhi that his legal fight against the rebel group will continue.

Describing himself as 'sher ka beta' (son of a lion), he accused his uncle Pashupati Paras and five party MPs of hatching a conspiracy against him and the party when he was unwell. The lawmaker from Jamui in Bihar blamed the Nitish Kumar-led JD-U for engineering a split in his party, but avoided replying to questions on the BJP's role. He rejected the decisions taken by the faction headed by his uncle, saying the party's constitution did not allow Paras and others to take such steps.

Chirag said he did not feel orphaned after the death of his father last year, but feels like one after a faction of the party led by his uncle removed him from the post of parliamentary leader. He said many in the LJP wanted to side with Bihar CM Nitish Kumar during the Assembly polls last year. These people were in favour of the "politics of comfort", he alleged. "If I had to do the same, I would have had to bow before Nitish Kumar. I could not do that," said Paswan.

Referring to the five LJP MPs who sought his removal as LJP president, Chirag claimed the party constitution did not permit this action. A new party chief can be appointed in case of the incumbent's death or resignation, he said.

Chirag Paswan speaks to the media in New Delhi on Wednesday | PARVEEN NEGI

In his letter to the Lok Sabha Speaker, Paswan wrote: "Since Article 26 of the LJP constitution empowers the Central Parliamentary Board of the party to decide who will be Leader of our Party in Lok Sabha, hence, the decision of announcing Pashupati Kumar Paras MP as leader of the party in the Lok Sabha is contrary to the provisions of the party constitution."

Centre says no dissent on gap between two Covishiled shots

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA @ New Delhi

THE Union Health Ministry on Wednesday dismissed media reports claiming there was dissent from experts about increasing the gap between two Covishield doses and said the decision was based on scientific reason about the behaviour of adenovector vaccines.

The Centre on May 13 approved extending the gap between the two doses of Covishield from six to eight weeks to 12 to 16 weeks following a recommendation from the National Technical Advisory Group on Immunisation (NTAGI).

"The Standing Technical Sub-Committee of NTAGI gave the following recommendation: 'as per the COVID-19 Working Group recommendation, a dosing interval of minimum three months between two doses of Covishield vaccine was recommended'," said a statement from the health ministry.

In both the meetings, of the Covid-19 Working Group and of the STSC, no dissent was given by any of the three members — namely Dr Mathew Varghese, Dr M D Gupte and Dr J P Muliyil, added the statement from the ministry.

Innovate and invest in India, Modi tells summit on technology and start-ups

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi on Wednesday said the coronavirus pandemic has put to test conventional methods and that innovation is the only way out, while inviting the world to invest in India.

"I believe where convention fails, innovation can help. This has been seen during the Covid-19 global pandemic, which is the biggest disruption of our age. All nations have suffered losses and felt anxiety about the future," he said in his virtual keynote address at the fifth VivaTech Summit and added investments would be based on the five pillars of market, capital, eco-system, talent and culture of openness.

Modi said India is home to one of the world's largest start-up ecosystems. "Several unicorns have come up in recent years. India offers what innovators and investors need."

VivaTech Summit is one of the largest digital and start-up events in Europe, held annually in Paris since 2016. It is organised by Publicis Groupe, an advertising and marketing conglomerate, and Les Echos, a media group. It brings together stakeholders in technology innovation and start-up ecosystem. It features exhibitions, panel discussions and contests.

The Prime Minister observed that over the past one year, the country has experienced disruptions in various sectors. "Much of it is still there. Yet, disruption does not have to mean despair. We must keep the focus on the twin foundations of repair and prepare."

Saying that India has implemented reforms across various sectors, Modi said the nation has been adaptable and agile during the pandemic. "Digital technology helped us cope, connect, comfort and console. Through digital media we could work, talk with our loved ones and help others," he added.

India and France have been working closely on a wide range of subjects. Among these, technology and digital are emerging areas of cooperation.

Police seek time to release activists, move SC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

A day after the Delhi High Court granted bail to Pinjra Tod activists Devangana Kalita, Natasha Narwal and Jamia Millia Islamia student Asif Iqbal Tanha, who were arrested under the stringent Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act (UAPA) in connection with the Delhi riots case, the Delhi Police is yet to release them and has sought more time to verify the addresses of the sureties for the three.

The police on Wednesday also approached the Supreme Court while a Delhi court reserved its order on the plea moved by Kalita and Narwal seeking their immediate release from Tihar Jail. Asif is currently on custodial bail to take his BA final examinations.

In its plea seeking more time to release the trio, the Delhi Police stated, "...Since accused person namely Asif Iqbal Tanha and Devangana Kalita are permanent residents of Jharkhand and Assam, respectively, the investigating agency requires time till June 21 to verify the said address and would be able to file report on June 22 before this court. Similarly, accused Natasha Narwal is a permanent resident of Rohtak, Haryana. Therefore, the investigating agency requires time till June 18 and would file report on June 19 before this court."

The police also sought directions to the Unique Identification Authority if India to verify the Aadhaar card details of the sureties.

In its Special Leave Petition challenged the high court order, the police stated that the judgment was passed without due application of mind to the evidence mentioned in the charge sheet. There is enough evidence in the charge sheet, including WhatsApp messages and social media posts, to establish the allegations of conspiracy for widespread violence, it contended.

All the three were arrested in May last year. Granting bail to them, the HC said "...it seems that in its anxiety to suppress dissent, in the mind of the State, the line between the constitutionally guaranteed right to protest and terrorist activity seems to be getting somewhat blurred".

Village with 30% literacy first in Chhattisgarh to have 100% vaccination

EJAZ KAISER @ Raipur

A village in Chhattisgarh's remote hinterland has come up with an inspiring tale. Located in the backward and Maoist-dominated Dantewada district, Renganar has achieved 100% vaccination. In capital Raipur and Bilaspur, this figure is 57% and 61%, respectively.

The task was not easy. Other than distance from modern amenities, there were logistical obstacles. Making the tribal communities, who form 95% of the village's population, believe that vaccines cause no harm was another challenge. Despite that, around 310 persons of Renganar in the above-18 age group who are eligible have been administered the first dose.

The village has a literacy rate of hardly 30%. Inhabitants are largely digitally illiterate, another challenge the authorities had to deal with while using the official 'CG-Teeka' app for registrations.

"Local health workers and our specially constituted 'Corona Jagrukta Dal' (awareness teams) of teachers, mitanins (community health workers) and Angadwadi staff at the panchayat level played a vital role. Credit goes also to the understanding of the tribal people. Most of them don't have mobile phones, but in the CG-Teeka app, mobile phone numbers were not compulsory for registration," said Deepak Soni, Dantewada Collector.

Health worker who worked were also impressed to see that these tribal people did not have misconceptions about the vaccine. In many parts of rural India, myths about the process have proved a major hindrance.

"Initially, only a handful of people were vaccinated due to misconceptions and poor awareness. Most of them were hesitant. The 'Corona Jagrukta Dal' and others counselled the villagers and dispelled their fears. It's a happy occasion for us to see that every eligible adult in our area is vaccinated. They are better guarded against the virus," said Sanmati Telami, the woman sarpanch of Renganar.

Leaders invited for talks as protest demanding Maratha quota begins

CM snubs Cong's demand of reservation in promotions, move likely to strain Aghadi's ties

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

THE Maratha quota issue is all set to heat up Maharashtra politics again as the community launched a state-wide agitation demanding reservation under the leadership of BJP's Rajya Sabha MP Sambhajiraje Chhatrapati.

A silent sit-in protest was held at Chhatrapati Shahuji Maharaj memorial in Kolhapur on Wednesday that saw participation from MLAs and political leaders cutting across party lines. The state government, however, invited Sambhajiraje for a discussion with CM Uddhav Thackeray. Sambhajiraje, a direct descendant of warrior king Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj, welcomed the invite and said he and other leaders of the agitation may meet Thackeray in Mumbai on Friday.

Among the participants in the dharna were Kolhapur guardian minister and Congress leader Satej Patil, Vanchit Bahujan Aghadi leader Prakash Ambedkar, state BJP chief Chandrakant Patil and Shiv Sena MP from Kolhapur district Dhairyashil Mane.

The Supreme Court had earlier termed the Maratha quota announced by the state government as "unconstitutional". However, Deputy CM Ajit Pawar said Sambhajiraje was advised to discuss the quota issue with Thackeray instead of launching the agitation. Earlier this month, Thackeray had met PM Narendra Modi to discuss the matter.

Meanwhile, Thackeray has ignored ally Congress's demand by not implementing the reservation policy in promotions. This latest snub is likely to further strain the ties between the Congress and Shiv Sena. The CM cleared the promotions of 31 deputy secretaries without following the reservation policy. Out of 31 officers, 20 were from the general category.

Maharashtra Congress chief Nana Patole and other senior party leaders had met the CM to press for their demand.

"Our party president Sonia Gandhi had also earlier written to Thackeray reminding him about the coalition dharma and asked to respect the common minimum agenda. Not implementing reservation in promotion policy means we are neglecting the rights of the reserved class," a Congress leader said.

Disappeared BJP leaders set to visit Bengal to quell anger

PRANAB MONDAL @ Kolkata

FACING the wrath of BJP's ground-level functionaries in West Bengal over the disappearance of the national leaders following the party's poor show in the recently concluded Assembly elections, party's national general secretary Kailash Vijayvargiya and others are likely to visit the state soon.

The party high-command has instructed the leaders to start visiting the state after BJP leaders in Bengal informed it about the discontent among party workers.

Vijayvargiya's visit is said to be significant as he was the main architect behind the induction of Trinamool Congress turncoat Mukul Roy in 2017. Roy returned to the ruling party last week. The party also asked Arvind Menon and Shiv Prakash, co-in charges of Bengal, to visit Bengal soon.

"Our national leaders are fearing rebellion in the party's Bengal chapter. The leaders, who were given the task of strengthening the party's organisational set-up, just got vanished soon after the results of the elections. They did not visit the areas and meet the families who had complained of being victims of post-poll violence. Our lower-level workers are unhappy with the role of the national leaders, and we have informed New Delhi about it," said a senior BJP leader in Kolkata.

Referring to Vijayvargiya's visit to Kolkata, the leader said, "It was him who had rewarded Roy with the title of BJP's Chanakya in Bengal. Now his disciple has left him and returned to the rival camp. Now, our functionaries are waiting to hear what Vijayvargiya will say at a meeting with us."

BJP's leadership was divided into two factions in 2017 — when Roy was inducted into the party. Now, the voices of those who were against Roy's induction have resurfaced after his return to the Trinamool Congress.

"These two leaders (Menon and Prakash) had held a series of meetings with us and leaders in various districts before the elections. They had submitted a report to Union Home Minister Amit Shah and national president JP Nadda. Based on their report, the high command had predicted that the BJP would win more than 200 Assembly seats out of 294," another BJP leader told this newspaper.

BJP eyes 'social influencers' in Punjab, inducts six

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi/ Chandigarh

BEARING the brunt of widespread public anger in Punjab over the central farm laws, the BJP is finding it difficult to get new allies in the state even though it's apparently not averse to fresh tie-ups after its break-up with the Shiromani Akali Dal (SAD) last year.

The party is now eyeing splinter political groups and paratroopers from other parties. But more importantly, it's keen on inducting 'influencers' to broaden its social base in the state ahead of the 2022 assembly elections next. In accordance with this strategy, the BJP on Wednesday welcomed into its fold six Sikh faces a day after the party brass took stock of the political situation in Punjab.

Several leaders from Punjab join BJP in the presence of Union Minister Gajendra Singh Shekhawat in New Delhi on Wednesday | PARVEEN NEGI

> The BJP has a vision of prosperous Punjab. The party will keep striving for such a state. There are some anti-social elements who work to create social strife —GAJENDRA SINGH SHEKHAWAT, Union Minister

Those who joined the party at its headquarters in the national capital in the presence of state BJP chief Ashwani Sharma and state affairs in-charge Dushyant Gautam included former vice-chancellor of Guru Kashi University Jaswinder Singh Dhillon, Col (retd) Jaibans Singh, advocates Harinder Singh Kahlon, Jagmohan Singh Saini and Nirmal Singh and Kuldeep Singh Kahlon, a former president of the All-India Sikh Students Federation.

Union minister Gajendra Singh Shekhawat said the party will gain strength in the state with the new set of leaders joining its ranks and they would help in dispelling the misconceptions.

"The BJP has a vision of prosperous Punjab. The party will keep striving for such a state. There are some anti-social elements who work to create social strife," said Shekhawat in an apparent reference to the protests saffron party leaders are facing in Punjab.

However, a state BJP leader said these new faces are not mass leaders this will harm the party more, but it "feels their joining is significant in terms of perception".

Leaked chats land bureaucrat in spot

BHOPAL: Transferred nine times in 54 months of service in Madhya Pradesh, an IAS officer is in the eye of a storm after his chats in a closed messenger group accusing a senior colleague of corruption got leaked.

The MP government sent a show cause notice to Lokesh Jangid seeking reply within a week. Confirming the news, Cabinet minister Vishvas Sarang said the officer was transferred even during the previous Congress rule.

The 2014 batch IAS officer of MP cadre, meanwhile, has applied for inter-cadre deputation to home state Maharashtra stating the case of his ailing grandfather and widowed mother. In the leaked chats, Jangid claimed, "In Bihar, they don't make anyone DM who mints money. In MP, the less said the better."

"Interestingly, while those who mint money from all kinds of mafia, get transfer from field to field. And those with impeccable integrity get thrown to Secretariat on transfer," he claimed in another message.

Jangid was transferred from the post of additional collector of Barwani district to additional mission director at Rajya Shiksha Kendra in Bhopal on May 31.

When a senior bureaucrat who advised Jangid to have some decency and delete all his posts, the chats show he refuses to budge. Jangid was subsequently removed from the group. When questioned about his recent transfer, Jangid told this newspaper: "I've nothing to complain about the government. My fields assignments since my first posting as SDM-Vijaypur have given me immense satisfaction, particularly the satisfaction of working to my best ability in tribal areas." ENS

Man arrested for offending officer released

SRINGAR: After facing severe criticism from political parties over the arrest and booking of a man for "promoting enmity" over his comments that he has "got no expectations from non-local officers" during a public durbar of L-G's advisor, police released him on Wednesday.

"Sajad Rashid Sofi was released in the morning today. He was handed over to his family," a police official said. Sofi, 55, a resident of the Safapora area of central Kashmir's Ganderbal district was arrested on June 10. His arrest came a few hours after he attended public interaction with Baseer Ahmad Khan at Mansbal. Sofi, a trader and civil society member, told Khan that he did not have any expectations from non-local officers.

"I have expectations of you because you are a Kashmiri and you can understand us. I can catch hold of your collar and seek answers from you but what expectations can I have from non-local officers," Sofi had said.

Deputy Commissioner Ganderbal Krittika Jyotsnaa, a 2014-batch IAS officer from UP, who was present there had taken exception to the remarks and strongly objected to them. ENS

Shelter home director, wife held for sexual abuse of girls

RANCHI: Four persons, including the director of the Jamshedpur-based Mother Teresa Welfare Trust, his wife and two others, were arrested over the sexual assault of minor girls lodged at a shelter home run by the NGO.

An FIR under the POCSO Act and various sections of the IPC was lodged following a complaint by two girls who were rescued by the police after they had escaped from the shelter home. The police said the girls were being abused at the shelter home for over four years. The Jamshedpur SP said the accused were arrested from Singrauli in Madhya Pradesh on Tuesday and taken to Jamshedpur on transit remand on Wednesday morning. "The FIR was lodged against the trust's director Harpal Singh Thapar, his wife Pushpa Rani Tirkey, who is also the chairperson of the East Singhbhum district child welfare committee, warden Geeta Kaur, her son Aditya Singh and another staff member Tony Singh.

The shelter home had 23 girls in two rooms on the second floor of the building. ENS

Ex-BSP MLAs up ante as Gehlot mulls cabinet rejig

RAJESH ASNANI @ Jaipur

THE likely expansion of the Ashok Gehlot (left) ministry in Rajasthan and political appointments being demanded by the Sachin Pilot camp appears to have run into rough weather. After weeks of pressure from the Pilot camp, six former BSP MLAs who had joined the Congress two years ago and played a crucial role in saving the government are now demanding their share in power.

Political analysts believe these former BSP MLAs are being encouraged by the Gehlot camp to neutralize the Pilot camp pressure.

Along with MLAs of the Pilot camp, the six BSP turncoats too are demanding a Cabinet expansion and political appointments. One of the ex-BSP MLAs, Sandeep Yadav, has made it clear that though there are issues with the Cabinet expansion, it should be done all the same. "It has already been delayed. However, the CM should decide whenever he thinks he can." Sandeep Yadav and three others from the erstwhile BSP flock have objected to any move by the Congress leadership to further mollify the Pilot camp. "Only loyalists should be rewarded in the cabinet expansion", said Yadav.

"The government was saved by six of us and other independents. The Congress leadership should not lend its ears to those who had endangered the Gehlot government."

Yadav was earlier with the BJP but moved to the BSP after being denied a ticket for the 2018 assembly elections.

His remarks drew a sharp response from the Pilot camp. Mukesh Bhakar, a Pilot loyalist MLA, said those who have shifted their loyalty should not talk about it. He hinted that the Gehlot camp was encouraging the former BSP MLAs. Pilot had returned to the party with 18 of his MLAs last year following reconciliation effected by the Congress leadership after a month-long rebellion. Pilot recently said even after 10 months, the issues raised by him remained unresolved. The cabinet expansion is unlikely to happen soon. An officer said doctors have advised Gehlot against one-on-one meetings following his Covid recovery.

Bus services to three states resume as curbs lifted

The MP government lifted the ban imposed on inter-state bus travel involving three states. Buses will now ply within MP and to adjoining UP, Chhattisgarh and Rajasthan. The ban on movement of passenger buses to Maharashtra, however, will stay in place at least till June 22, transport sources said. Around two months back, the state had banned the passenger bus movement with the four adjoining states in view of the COVID pandemic surge. According to a government notification, gyms, malls, private and government offices will reopen from Wednesday. Offices will be allowed to reopen with 100% strength.

Biden, Putin conclude summit between 'two great powers'

The two sides expected a 4-5-hour meet, but spent less than 3 hours ■ Both appeared to avoid looking directly at each other

NO JOINT PRESSER

Putin and his entourage arrived first at the summit site: Villa La Grange, a grand lakeside mansion set in Geneva's biggest park. Next came Biden and his team. Putin flew into Geneva on Wednesday shortly before the scheduled start of the meeting; Biden, who was already in Europe for meetings with allies, arrived the day before. The White House opted against holding a joint news conference, deciding it did not want to appear to elevate Putin at a moment when the US president is urging European allies to pressure Putin to cut out myriad provocations. Biden first floated the meeting in an April phone call in which he told Putin he would be expelling several Russian diplomats and imposing sanctions against dozens of people and firms, part of an effort to hold the Kremlin accountable for interference in last year's presidential election and the hacking of federal agencies.

GENEVA

Russian President Vladimir Putin says he and US President Joe Biden agreed in a "constructive" summit on Wednesday to return their nations' ambassadors to their posts and begin negotiations to replace the last remaining treaty between the two countries limiting nuclear weapons.

Putin said there was 'no hostility' during the talks that wrapped up more quickly than expected. The two sides had said they expected to meet for four to five hours but spent less than three hours together, including an opening meeting with just the two presidents and their top foreign aide.

When it was over, Putin had first crack at describing the results at a solo news conference, with Biden to follow with his own session with reporters.

Putin acknowledged that Biden raised human rights issues with him, including the fate of opposition leader Alexei Navalny. Putin defended Navalny's prison sentence and deflected questions about mistreatment of Russian opposition leaders by highlighting US domestic turmoil, including the Black Lives Matter protests and the January 6 Capitol insurrection. Putin said he and Biden agreed to begin negotiations on nuclear talks to potentially replace the New START treaty limiting nuclear weapons after it expires in 2026.

Washington broke off talks with Moscow in 2014 in response to Russia's annexation of Ukraine's Crimea and its military intervention in support of separatists in eastern Ukraine. Talks resumed in 2017 but gained little traction and failed to produce an agreement on extending the New START treaty during the Trump administration. Putin said there was an agreement between them to return their ambassadors to their respective postings. Both countries had pulled back their top envoys to Washington and Moscow as relations chilled in recent months.

Russia's ambassador to the US, Anatoly Antonov, was recalled from Washington about three months ago after Biden called Putin a killer; US Ambassador to Russia John Sullivan left Moscow almost two months ago, after Russia suggested he return to Washington for consultations. Putin said that the ambassadors were expected to return their posts in the coming days.

Putin also said the two sides agreed in principle to begin consultations on cybersecurity issues, though he continued to deny US allegations that Russia was responsible for a spate of recent high-profile hacks against business and government agencies in the United States and around the globe.

Biden and Putin plunged into the face-to-face talks Wednesday at a lush lakeside Swiss mansion, a highly anticipated summit at a time when both leaders say relations between their countries are at a low point. As the two leaders appeared briefly before media at the start of the meeting, Biden called it a discussion between "two great powers" and said it was 'always better to meet face to face.' Putin said he hoped the talks would be 'productive.'

The meeting in a book-lined room had a somewhat awkward beginning. Both men appeared to avoid looking directly at each other during a brief and chaotic photo opportunity before a scrum of jostling reporters.

Biden nodded when a reporter asked if Putin could be trusted, but the White House quickly sent out a tweet insisting that he was 'very clearly not responding to any one question, but nodding in acknowledgment to the press generally.'

For months, Biden and Putin have traded sharp rhetoric. Biden has repeatedly called out Putin for malicious cyberattacks by Russian-based hackers on US interests, for the jailing of Russia's foremost opposition leader and for interference in US elections. AP

Russian President Vladimir Putin and his US counterpart Joe Biden shake hands during their meeting at the 'Villa La Grange' in Geneva on Wednesday | AP/PTI

WHAT BIDEN WANTS

Biden had said he will not follow in his predecessors' footsteps by aiming to radically alter US' ties to Russia.

He is looking for a more modest goal: Of having a more predictable relationship

He will push Putin to stop meddling in polls, ease tensions with Ukraine and stop giving safe harbour to hackers carrying out cyber attacks.

WHAT PUTIN WANTS

Putin won't be expecting to warm up ties. His goal will be to draw his red lines for the Biden admn.

He doesn't hope for a rollback of US and EU sanctions that have restricted Moscow's access to global financial markets and top Western technologies.

His task now is to spell out Russia's top security concerns and try to restore basic channels of communication.

BIDEN OPEN TO POSSIBLE PRISONER SWAP WITH RUSSIA

After the meeting, Biden said he was "not going to walk away" from the plight of two Americans detained in Russia. He told reporters he raised the imprisonment of Paul Whelan and Trevor Reed in his meeting with Putin.

Fire at Illinois chemical plant under control

ROCKTON (US)

AN industrial firefighting team continued battling a fire that has consumed an chemical plant in northern Illinois and forced the evacuation of nearby homes and businesses.

Before pouring fire-fighting foam on the Chemtool plant in Rockton on Tuesday, Louisiana-based US Fire Pumps dug a trench around the facility and installed absorbent booms along the Rock River to prevent residual material from escaping into the village's source of drinking water.

Rockton fire Chief Kirk Wilson said the smoke plume from the fire has dissipated substantially as a result of US Fire Pumps' effort. Wilson said the company has larger pumps and a larger delivery capability to battle the fire than local fire departments.

Questions over Twitter's legal shield status

According to cyber security and law experts, only courts can decide if the social media giant has violated Indian rules

BISMAH MALIK @ Bengaluru

WITH Twitter reportedly losing its legal shield in India for non-compliance with the Social Intermediary Guidelines 2021, the US-based micro-blogging site's officials could face criminal and civil liability in India. They can be sued in Indian courts or named in FIRs.

While there is some confusion as to whether Twitter has already lost its social intermediary status in India, experts are of the view that it's up to the courts to decide if the social media giant has complied with Indian rules.

According to Internet Freedom Foundation of India, the recently notified IT rules do not contain any power or process for grant or revocation of an intermediary status. "There is no immediate penalty which flows from non-compliance beyond loss of immunity determined by courts on evidence and legal submissions. If social media firms don't comply with the IT rules, they risk losing legal protection against liability for user-generated content. As as per 79 of the IT Act, intermediaries are immune from liability/penalty if they comply with legal takedown requests of user posts from courts and public authorities," it added.

There is no immediate penalty which flows from non-compliance beyond loss of immunity determined by courts on evidence and legal submissions — Internet Freedom Foundation of India

However, Jiten Jain, CEO India Infosec Consortium and a cybersecurity expert, has a different take on the issue. Speaking to TNIE, he said that being a 'significant social media intermediary' (social media firms with more than 50 lakh registered users), Twitter was legally required to comply with the new Intermediary Rules by 25 May 2021 as directed by the Central government. "Since Twitter has not complied with the rules, it can no longer claim protections available to Social Media Intermediaries. It is currently vulnerable to all Civil and Criminal liabilities and investigations in India which may come," he added.

India is one of key overseas markets for Twitter with a total 50 million (5 crore) userbase compared to 36 million in the US. According to company statistics, India was among the fastest growing markets for Twitter during the October-December 2020 quarter, registering 74% growth year-on-year in daily active userbase.

Direct tax collection more than doubles to ₹1.85L cr in FY22

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

The Centre's direct tax collections so far in 2021-22 (till June 15) stand at ₹1,85,871 crore, compared with ₹92,762 crore a year ago – a 100.4% growth.

According to a finance ministry statement, corporation tax stood at ₹74,356 crore while personal income tax mop-up was ₹1,11,043 crore (including security transaction tax).

The total collection comprises advance tax of ₹28,780 crore, tax deducted at source (TDS) of ₹1,56,824 crore, self-assessment tax of ₹15,343 crore, regular assessment tax of ₹14,079 crore. Dividend Distribution Tax collected during the period was ₹1,086 crore. Advance tax collections in the same period last year stood at ₹11,714 crore. The department is expecting an increase in the figures as and when further information is received from banks.

The statement from the tax department also says that the gross collection of direct taxes (before adjusting for refunds), stood at ₹2,16,602 crore for FY22. In comparison, the gross collection of direct taxes was ₹1,37,825 crore last year.

Refunds to the tune of ₹30,731 crore have also been issued in the current financial year, as on 15 June.

The surge in direct tax collection vis-a-vis last year is attributed to healthy exports growth, continued industrial and construction work and to some extent collection from tax amnesty scheme Vivad Se Vishwas.

With more than one year into the pandemic, businesses have learnt to grease the squeaky wheel and have emerged more mature and experienced

Sandeep Jhunjhunwala, Partner, Nangia Andersen LLP

Aditi Nayar, chief economist at ICRA rating agency, said, "The jump in the direct tax collections in first quarter of the financial year reflects healthy exports and a continuation of various industrial and construction activities, given the lower stringency of the staggered regional lockdowns in 2021 compared to the nationwide lockdown in 2020."

However, Neeru Ahuja, partner, Deloitte India, thinks the primary reason for the jump in tax collection could be due to the success of Vivad Se Viswas scheme.

She says taxpayers have taken advantage of the Vivad se Vishwas scheme and have settled their old disputes and litigations with the income tax department along with depositing their tax dues.

Pricing for Carlyle deal kosher: PNB Housing

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

PNB Housing Finance on Wednesday said the process followed by it in issuing shares worth ₹4,000 crore to investors led by US private equity giant Carlyle Group, is perfectly in line with the market practice followed by listed companies as well as in compliance with the applicable law.

Responding to clarifications sought by the bourses over its ₹4,000 crore deal with Carlyle and others, PNB Housing said there is no prescribed methodology to be followed with regard to the valuation of shares of a listed entity and as such, there is no prescribed distinction between a pricing and a valuation certificate. The stock exchanges had also asked the company to submit the pricing certificate from a registered valuer. To this, PNB Housing said, "It was not required under the applicable law to procure a valuation as per the relevant section of the Companies Act 2013 dealing with the preference issue of shares."

It, however, added that it had obtained a valuation report dated May 29, 2021 from BR Maheshwari & Co LLP, the firm's statutory auditor. "Further, the management had also received a valuation report dated May 31, 2021 provided by the lead investor," as per the filing.

The company further said its board of directors took into account various factors, including but not limited to the urgent requirement for funds, the general downturn in the economy, inability of its promoter company PNB to invest further funds due to rejection of regulatory approval and price (relative to market price) at which various types of issuances (including rights issues and QIPs) have taken place.

IBC amendment on the cards to check promoters' delaying tactics

ANURADHA SHUKLA @ New Delhi

THE Centre plans to amend the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code (IBC) to prevent promoters from delaying resolution process and to ensure its time-bound completion.

According to sources, a special presentation was given by the bankers to the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) and the Union finance ministry, which said that the delaying tactics of promoters are eroding the very spirit of IBC and this is stalling the resolution plan, citing the case of Jaypee Infrastructure.

"The IBC has some provisions which are being misused by the promoters, which in turn delay the whole process. The finance and corporate affairs minstries are in touch with experts and stakeholders to amend the law," a senior IBC official told TNIE.

Under IBC, promoters are not allowed to bid for their own companies. However, they can delay the process by various means. "Bankers have pointed out the loopholes and have given a detailed representation to the finance ministry and even RBI. That is being examined," the official added.

The development follows the ruling in the case of Dewan Housing Finance Corporation (DHFL) case, where its promoter Kapil Wadhawan sprang a surprise with a ₹91,000 crore after the Piramal group had made a ₹34,250 crore offer. The unexpected move prompted the Mumbai bench of the NCLT to ask the committee of creditors to consider the offer last month, which was stayed by NCLAT.

Out of the total 4,300 cases admitted to bankruptcy courts since FY17, only 8% have been resolved while 40% are still pending. About 30% have seen liquidation.

Starting from June, 2017, of the ₹4.65 lakh crore worth debt which the RBI had shortlisted for IBC proceedings, banks have managed to recover 28%, or ₹1.3 lakh crore, over the past four years.

As a share of the outstanding debt of the 20 accounts where resolution was achieved, the recovery stands at 40% of outstanding debt.

Gautam Adani's notional wealth down $8.6 billion

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

DESPITE issuing multiple clarifications on the 'active' status of three foreign portfolio investment (FPI) accounts, shares of Adani Power, Adani Transmission and Adani Total Gas were locked in lower circuit for the third straight day, falling 5% each, on the BSE on Wednesday. Separately, Adani Ports and Adani Enterprises plummeted 7.2% and 5.8%, respectively, while Adani Green Energy shed 3.1% of its value on Wednesday.

The fall that began on Monday after reports claimed the National Securities Depository Ltd (NSDL) had frozen accounts of three Mauritius-based FPIs, which own shares worth over ₹43,500 crore in four Adani firms, has so far eroded market capitalisation of the group by ₹1.10 lakh crore. On June 16, the group's market cap came down to ₹8.40 lakh crore from ₹9.50 lakh crore on June 11.

This continuous fall in share value is also having a direct impact on promoter Gautam Adani's notional wealth. According to Forbes Real Time Billionaires index, Adani's wealth has fallen by $8.6 billion in the past three trading sessions. The index on Wednesday (post market hour) showed his wealth at $66.3 billion as against Friday's close of $74.9 billion.

Currently, Adani and his family rank 16th on the index. India's richest person Mukesh Ambani is at 12th positiion with a net worth of $85.4 bn.

Adani Group on Wednesday averred that the FPIs in question are 'active' and not frozen. Jugeshinder Singh, CFO of Adani Group, said the firm was aware of the identity of key investors in foreign portfolios but avoided naming specific individuals.

Okinawa Autotech cuts e2W prices by ₹7,200-17,800

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

DAYS after the government increased incentive on electric two-wheelers (e2W) by 50%, electric vehicle manufacturers have started revising their price list. Okinawa Autotech, India's second largest e2W player, cut prices of its products by ₹7,200-17,800.

Okinawa's Iprase+ will now cost ₹99,708, down from ₹1,17,600. There is also a price reduction of ₹7,947 and ₹7,209 on the Praise Pro and Ridge+ model, respectively.

Similarly, Hero MotorCorp-backed Ather Energy said its scooters will now become affordable by ₹14,500 after the FAME II subsidy revision. According to the company's website, Ather 450 Plus is now sold at ₹1,25,490 in Bengaluru while its price in Delhi stands at ₹1,13,416. The difference is due to additional subsidy given by Delhi government.

TVS Motor also declared a reduction of ₹11,250 for its only fully electric model, the iQube, which is now retailed at ₹1,00,777 in New Delhi. In Bengaluru, it is priced at ₹1,10,506 as against the previous price of ₹1,21,756.

Greaves Cotton-owned Ampere Vehicles reduced the prices of its model Ampere Magnus to ₹65,990 in New Delhi, from ₹74,990 earlier. The Ampere Zeal model is now sold at ₹59,990, down from ₹68,990.

EV makers expect price cuts to boost demand as price gap between petrol engine-powered 2Ws and battery-powered 2Ws is nil now. "Lowering prices will help persuade more riders to switch from a combustion-engined model to an electric one," said Jeetender Sharma, founder and MD, Okinawa.

Economy down but not out, vax strategy to shape recovery, says RBI

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

EVEN as the country continues to wrestle with the second wave of the pandemic, the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) has raised "cautious optimism" about the state of the economy.

The central bank, in its latest monthly bulletin, has assessed that the second wave has hit domestic demand hard. "On the brighter side, several aspects of aggregate supply conditions – agriculture and contactless services are holding up, while industrial production and exports have surged compared to last year amidst pandemic protocols," the RBI bulletin said.

Noting that the pandemic is a real shock with real consequences, the central bank believes there is a need to ensure that the recovery is built on a solid foundation of investment and productivity growth.

"Life- and work-style transformation such as increased remote work and online shopping may likely endure. When patterns of demand shift, some firms may face closure," according to the RBI bulletin. While some industries may become permanently smaller, at the same time, existing firms in industries experiencing increased demand may expand and new ones will emerge.

The bulletin further added that three sectors with the greatest growth potential in the post-recovery decade include: digital technologies; biomedical science (along with its applications in healthcare); and technologies that address various challenges to sustainability, especially those pertaining to climate change.

On inflation, RBI said it sees price instability as transitory, even as markets are convinced that inflation is rising into the long-term and will force the hand of monetary authorities to abandon ultra-accommodation. Accommodative monetary policy is when central banks expand the money supply to boost the economy. "Going forward, the speed and scale of vaccination will shape the path of recovery," RBI added.

For founders, SPAC is the way ahead: Investor

MEANWHILE, in India, the International Financial Services Centre Authority also put out a draft proposal for SPAC listings in Gujarat International Financial and Tec-City (GIFT City), which is being seen as a bold move from the government's earlier cautious approach to help SPAC firms (which do not have a running business/assets) established in India. SPACs have been listed on selected stock exchanges globally and seek to raise capital from markets for acquiring companies post listing.

"Effectively, a SPAC has already been listed on the stock exchanges and then goes on to acquire a business or a company within 36 months. So, it will be relatively a new phenomenon for retail investors in India who will not have detailed information on company operations/ business model if they want to invest in a SPAC firm unlike a traditional company. For founders, however, it may be a preferred move as acquisitions by foreign firms need RBI approvals and other regulatory hurdles" a startup investor said.

Private equity veteran, Rohan Ajila, whose SPAC firm Global Consumer Acquisition Corp (GCAC) raised $170 million in an initial public offering this week on Nasdaq, said that company management's expertise in M&As as well as business model will help his firm in acquisitions in the next 12 months. GCAC is looking to acquire consumer firms with Asia and India focus at a valuation of $500 million to $1 billion.

IT cos set to slash three million jobs by 2022 due to automation: Report

WITH automation taking place at a much faster pace across industries especially in the tech space, domestic software firms that employee over 16 mn are set to slash headcounts by a massive 3 mn by 2022, which will help them save a whopping USD 100 billion mostly in salaries annually, says a report.

The domestic IT sector employs 16 million, of them around 9 million are employed in low-skilled services and BPO roles, according to Nasscom.

Of these 9 million low-skilled services and BPO roles, 30 per cent or around 3 million will be lost by 2022, principally driven by the impact of robot process automation or RPA. Roughly 0.7 million roles are expected to be replaced by RPA alone and the rest due to other technological upgrades and upskilling by the domestic IT players, while it the RPA will have the worst impact in the US with a loss of almost 1 million jobs, according to a Bank of America report on Wednesday.

Based on average fully-loaded employee costs of $25,000 per annum for India-based resources and $50,000 for US resources, this will release around $100 billion in annual salaries and associated expenses for corporates, the report says.

OFFSHORED IT JOBS MAY COME BACK

Developed countries will look to bring back offshored IT jobs and either use native IT workers or domestic software robots like robot process automation to secure their digital supply chain and ensure future resiliency of their national technology infrastructure

"TCS, Infosys, Wipro, HCL, Tech Mahindra and Cognizant and others appear to be planning for a 3 million reduction in low-skilled roles by 2022 because of RPA up-skilling.

"This is a $100-billion in reduced salary and other costs, but on the flipside, it offers a likely a USD 10 billion boon for IT companies that successfully implement RPA, and another a USD5 billion opportunity from a vibrant new software niche by 2022. Given that robots can function for 24 hrs a day, this represents a significant saving of up to 10:1 versus the human labor,' says the report.

Robot process automation is application of software, not physical robots, to perform routine, high-volume tasks, allowing employees to focus on more differentiated work. It differs from ordinary software applications as it mimics how the employee has worked instead of building a workflow into technology from ground up and thus minimising time to market and greatly reducing cost over the more traditional software-led approaches.

Offshoring helped domestic IT sector to grow from around 1 per cent of GDP in 1998 to 7 per cent today, a highly strategic sector for its economy and has alsoc significantly outgrown their Western peers (mainly Accenture, Capgemini and Atos) with an annual revenue growth of 18 per cent between 2005 and 2019. PTI

Osaka still in contention to play Wimbledon: Organisers

Wimbledon organisers say Japanese star Naomi Osaka is still down to play at the Grand Slam event which starts later this month and has not given any indication she will skip it. The 23-year-old four-time Grand Slam winner said following her withdrawal from the French Open that she was taking some time out of the game as she battles depression and anxiety.

World champions ride on Hummels own goal to overcome Germany 1-0 in Munich

MATCHES LIVE ON SONY NETWORKS

AFP @ Munich

A Mats Hummels own goal was enough to hand France a 1-0 victory over Germany on Tuesday as the world champions made a winning start to their Euro 2020 campaign in Munich.

Hummels turned the ball into his own net in the 20th minute, which ultimately decided the contest. France also saw Kylian Mbappe and Karim Benzema have second-half goals ruled offside, while Adrien Rabiot hit the post for Les Bleus. "It was a clash that could have been a semifinal or a final, so to take three points was important," said France coach Didier Deschamps. The result leaves France second on goal difference in the early Group F table behind Portugal, after the holders' 3-0 win over Hungary.

Big win for Russia

A goal by Aleksei Miranchuk allowed Russia to kickstart their campaign with 1-0 win over Finland.

In another match, goals from Aaron Ramsey and Connor Roberts helped Wales beat Turkey 2-0 in Baku.

ACID TEST FOR DANES

Denmark face an uphill Group B battle against Belgium. Netherlands and Austria meet in a contest which could potentially decide who'll top Group C. Here's a look...

Group C: Ukraine vs North Macedonia | 6:30 pm

Though Ukraine were outplayed in major parts of their opening tie against Netherlands, they'll be encouraged by the fight they showed towards the end. They'll be determined to get a result against North Macedonia.

Key players: Andriy Yarmolenko (Ukraine), Goran Pandev (North Macedonia)

Group B: Denmark vs Belgium | 9:30 pm

With Christian Eriksen in recovery following cardiac arrest, the Danes will look to get back to matters on the field. Unfortunately for the Danes, they'll be up against a Belgium side full of confidence. The way Belgium punished Russia showed that they mean business.

Key players: Romelu Lukaku (Belgium), Yussuf Poulsen (Denmark)

Group C: Netherlands vs Austria | 12:30 am

A win for either side could potentially help them finish as group toppers. Though Netherlands dominated their opening tie against Ukraine, they were made to work hard towards the end. Austria enter the contest after their first-ever win in the marquee event.

Key players: Memphis Depay (Netherlands), David Alaba (Austria)

All eyes on India's bowling department

VENKATA KRISHNA B @ Chennai

SAMPLE this. In the 17 Tests India have played under the World Test Championship cycle, they have taken the field with a 7-4 combination in six Tests. It is the traditional Indian way of going about the balance, where the team ensures there are enough batsmen. It is a safety first approach, where four bowlers may not be enough to take 20 opposition wickets. It is something Virat Kohli has changed, especially in overseas conditions, before the injury to Hardik Pandya and the presence of a lethal bowling unit made him rethink.

In the first three Tests under the WTC cycle, India took the field with a 7-4 combination and won all of them, before switching to a 6-5 combination at home. The emergence of Ravindra Jadeja, the batsman, gave Kohli the cushion to play three seamers at home. It was a bold approach and one that caught teams off-guard. In the five Tests at home against South Africa and Bangladesh, Mohammed Shami, Umesh Yadav and Ishant Sharma outshined spinners with quality reverse-swing.

However, in the next three overseas Tests played in New Zealand and Australia, on seamer-friendly conditions, India chose to go defensive again. And it came at a cost. They lost all of those, before they chose to be aggressive again. Despite missing the likes of Mohammed Shami, Ishant Sharma and Jasprit Bumrah, having five bowling options meant they were able to keep the pressure on the Australian line-up and pull of a coup against all odds.

ICC WORLD TEST CHAMPIONSHIP

Threat of rain

CHENNAI: Inclement weather in Southampton could play spoilsport during the World Test Championship final between India and New Zealand, scheduled to begin on Friday. The UK Met Office has issued yellow weather alerts to Southampton for the opening two days of the Test to be held at the Ageas Bowl. If the alert is anything to go by, there is a 60 per cent chance of precipitation throughout Friday. The forecast also indicates chances of some showers in the area for the third and fourth days of the final as well.

That they continued with his combination even at home against England in more bowler-friendly condition was a telling difference.

"They (bowlers) have consistently taken 20 wickets to win a Test match over a period of time. So I'm very happy that our bowling line-up is very strong. No matter which wicket we play on, they are always a threat. They run in and always try and look for wickets. Even if the wicket is flat, they alter their plans and bowl accordingly," Cheteshwar Pujara said.

As India gear up to face New Zealand in the final of the World Test Championship, the question that lingers on everyone's lips is whether India will drift away from their aggressive approach. According to information coming from Southampton, the pitch is expected to be on the dry side, meaning India are ready to play both their premier spinners Ravichandran Ashwin and Jadeja at the Ageas Bowl, with three pacers Bumrah, Ishant and Shami. With rain predicted throughout the final, the combination might change, but all things point out that the five will play a Test together for the first time.

Although the two spinners have been mainstays, the two have played only three Tests together outside the sub-continent — one each in West Indies, England and Australia. But it also shows India's faith in Jadeja, who is now repeatedly making good scores in the middle-order.

Spinners lead fightback

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chennai

Coca-Cola's value falls post Ronaldo snub

CHENNAI: CRISTIANO Ronaldo broke a European Championships record during his brace against Hungary. The Portuguese talisman has already had a significant off the field contribution too. In the pre-match press conference, the Juve forward moves two Coca-Cola bottles away from him. A video of the incident shows his distate for the soft drink. After moving the two bottles, Ronaldo was seen promoting a bottle of 'Agua' (water in Portuguese). His actions were reflected by a marginal fall in the beverage giant's share price ($56.10 to $55.22). As a result, the company's market valuation went down from $242bn to $238bn.

Brazil search for strike force against Peru

SAO PAULO: Brazil coach Tite has hinted he'll continue searching for his ideal strike force in Thursday's Copa America game against Peru. Tite tested Everton Ribeiro, Everton and Gabriel Barbosa up front at practice on Tuesday instead of Lucas Paqueta, Richarlison and Gabriel Jesus, who started in Brazil's 3-0 win over Venezuela in the tournament opener on Sunday. Roberto Firmino, who was on the bench against Venezuela, didn't participate in the practice game in the time while the Brazilian soccer confederation broadcast training to the media.

Upcoming matches (Friday, IST): Colombia vs Venezuela (2:30 am), Brazil vs Peru (5:30 am).

Post-Covid care vital, says CAIMS doctor

ASHIM SUNAM @ Bengaluru

THE world of sports is among the sectors to bear brunt of Covid-19, with competitions getting cancelled or postponed. Even when events have been held in secure bio-bubbles, like the Indian Premier League, players have been infected with the virus. There are other examples like Tokyo-bound athletes Simranjit Kaur (boxing), Avinash Sable (3000m steeplechase) and Rani Rampal (women's hockey) etc who had to take a break from training after being tested positive.

It meant they had to isolate themselves and stay away from training, which affected their preparations. What makes it even more worrisome is how it could have a long term impact. "Those who got infected with Covid, the long term effects of it are to be seen. Already the papers have come wherein the infected Covid individuals have a long effect on the heart and lungs," said VK Srinivas, who is one of the six doctors in the core group of the recently launched Centralised Athlete Injury Management System (CAIMS).

He further added: "Those who are already admitted and in training, their efficiency in the sports will come down drastically because of Covid. It is not that it comes and goes. Covid is going to play a major role in the direction of sports."

Srinivas, a cardiologist, will play a vital role in CAIMS, as we have witnessed players suffering cardiac arrest in the middle of a game. Recent example being Denmark's Christian Eriksen in the ongoing European Championship against Finland where he collapsed suddenly and was later rushed to hospital for treatment.

MIS-C | A syndrome with name of multisystem inflammatory syndrome has been described in children. Such cases are characterised by unremitting fever > 38 C, epidemiological linkage with SARS CoV – 2 and clinical features suggestive of Multi System Inflammatory Syndrome

Drugs to be used in case the child has cardiac dysfunction, shock, coronary involvement, multi organs dysfunction: ● Steroids: Methylprednisolone 1 to 2 mg/kg per day. ● Intravenous Immunoglobulin 2 g/kg over 24 to 48 hours. ● Antimicrobials

The child needs appropriate supportive care, preferably in ICU. In absence of cardiac dysfunction, shock, coronary involvement, multi organs dysfunction, one may use steroids or IVIG

EXPLAINED · HEALTH

RIGHT COVID CARE FOR CHILDREN

The vast majority of Indian children are either asymptomatic or have only mild symptoms after Covid-19 infection, but they remain as susceptible to the coronavirus as adults. With experts predicting a disproportionately high number of cases among kids in a possible third Covid-19 wave, the Union health ministry has issued treatment guidelines for doctors on treating children

MILD ILLNESS
Sore throat, rhinorrhea, cough. No fast breathing

→ HOME ISOLATION
Supportive care, rest, adequate hydration and feeding, paracetamol for fever, Report if worsening of danger signs

→ Evaluate all admitted children with CBC, LFT, RFT, Coagulogram, CRP, D-dimer, Fibrinogen, Chest X-ray, blood culture

If home monitoring not possible, admit children with mild illness with co-morbidities: Chronic lung disease, symptomatic heart disease, chronic kidney disease, neurological disorder.

● AVOID NEBULIZATION; USE MDI AND SPACER IF INHALED MEDICATIONS INDICATED

MODERATE ILLNESS PNEUMONIA
Fast breathing (age based):
- ≥60/min for <2months
- ≥ 50/min for 2-12 months
- ≥ 40/min for 1-5 years
- ≥ 30/min for >5years

No signs of severe pneumonia/illness

→ HOSPITALISE AND MONITOR
Avoid dehydration, and overhydration. Paracetamol, amoxycillin if suspicion of bacterial infection. If SpO2<94%, start O_2. Add steroids only if very rapid progression

SEVERE ILLNESS
Severe pneumonia, ARDS, Sepsis, Septic Shock, MODS
Pneumonia with any of these: ● Cyanosis ● SpO2< 90% ● Increased respiratory efforts (grunting,severe retraction) ● Lethargy, somnolence, seizure

→ ADMIT, preferably in ICU/ HDU
those with ARDS/ Sepsis/Septic shock/ MODS: ● Evaluate for thrombosis, hemophagocytic lymphohistiocytosis,organ failure ● Steroidsfffl Remdesivir ● Empiric antimicrobials
Oxygen therapy: nasal prong, face mask, HFNC and NIV SpO2 target > 94% during resuscitation (once stable > 90%). Consider Awake Prone positioning(in older children) ● Restrictive fluid therapy ● Organ support (e.g.: RRT)

Steroids: Dexamethasone 0.15 mg/kg per dose (max. 6 mg) twice a day for 5-14 days (duration depending on clinical response) is preferred.
● Equivalent dose of methylprednisolone/prednisolone may be used
● Remdesivir: No trial data in children. Its use to be restricted to severe cases presenting within 72 hrs of onset of symptoms provided liver & kidney function parameters are normal. Body weight vs dose: >40 kg: 200 mg on d1, then 100 mg once daily 3.5-40 kg: 5 mg/kg on d1, 2.5 mg/kg once daily Duration: 5 days

ARDS
Mild ARDS: HFNO/NIV trial
Severe ARDS ● Mechanical ventilation: Low tidal volume (6ml/kg), high PEEP, cuffed endotracheal tube ● Fluid restriction ● Sedation

SHOCK
● Septic shock/ Myocardial ● dysfunction ● Crystalloid bolus 10-20 ml/kg ● over 30-60 min, fast if hypotensive; careful administration/ avoid if myocardial dysfunction suspected ● Early inotrope support ● Monitor for fluid overload

FACT OF THE MATTER

Regeneron drug reduces deaths

MEDICINE

A cocktail of synthetic antibodies reduces deaths among severe Covid patients who are unable to mount a strong immune response, results from a major clinical trial showed. The therapy, developed by the US biotech firm Regeneron and given to former US President Donald Trump during his brush with the coronavirus, had previously only been used to treat patients in the early stages of the disease. But the Recovery trial based in Britain has found the drug is effective in treating some patients with more acute cases of the virus. The treatment, called REGN-COV2, "reduces the risk of death when given to patients hospitalised with severe COVID-19 who have not mounted a natural antibody response of their own", the researchers said in a press release.

Therapy for Parkinson's

MEDICINE

People suffering from advanced Parkinson's disease could benefit long-term from continuous delivery of medication through a device similar to an insulin pump, a recent study found. Published in Nature Partner Journals with the Parkinson's Foundation, the real-world study followed 110 patients being treated at the Pitie-Salpetriere hospital. The second most common neurodegenerative disease, Parkinson's is sometimes treated with the apomorphine to lessen symptoms such as shaking, stiffness or slowness. It helps replace the dopamine typically lacking in Parkinson's patients, but taken orally it can cause dopamine to spike and then drop, leading to dyskinesia or muscle spasms.

US CDC reclassifies Delta variant

HEALTH

The US Centers for Disease Control and Prevention has reclassified the Delta strain of Covid-19 as a variant of concern, based on "mounting evidence" of it being more transmissible, the media reported. The CDC's classifications define three classes of variants of COVID-19 – variants of interest, variants of concern, and variants of high consequence. Other variants, circulating in the US, classified by CDC as variants of concern include the B117 (Alpha), B1351 (Beta), P1 (Gamma), B1427 (Epsilon), B1429 (Epsilon), and B16172 (Delta). "CDC and SARS-CoV-2 Interagency Group continually review the available scientific evidence and the genomic surveillance data to assess the classification of variants," Fox news quoted the CDC as saying. According to the CDC, a variant's classification status can change as officials learn more about them.

New wall coating can capture Covid droplets

Scientists develop substance that can trap respiratory droplets rather than allow them to bounce off and circulate

RESEARCH

US scientists said on Wednesday they had developed a sticky wall coating that repurposes ingredients used in hair conditioners to trap aerosolized droplets, and hope it will become another tool in the fight against Covid and other airborne diseases.

The substance can be applied to surfaces such as plexiglass dividers to capture respiratory droplets, rather than allowing them to bounce off and remain in circulation.

"Droplets collide with indoor surfaces all the time," said Northwestern University engineering professor Jiaxing Huang, senior author of a paper on the subject that was published Wednesday in the journal Chem.

"Right now, plexiglass dividers are deviating devices; they deflect droplets. If a surface could actually trap droplets, then every single droplet effectively removed from indoor air would be a successful elimination of a potential source of transmission."

Covid-19 is primarily transmitted through respiratory fluids -- including large droplets and fine aerosols -- when an infected person speaks, sneezes or breathes.

The main way to remove these from the air is to open windows and to use high-filtration devices that capture fine particles and change out the air at high rates.

To build extra protection on top of that, Huang and colleagues came up with the idea of using PAAm-DDA, a polymer which is commonly used in hair products and other cosmetics to lock in moisture, as the main ingredient of their coating.

They applied the substance with a brush to a variety of surfaces and performed tests to compare coated and uncoated surfaces. A coated plexiglass barrier captured nearly all aerosolized microdroplets, and 80% of large droplets, compared to a uncoated barrier.

The coating did not become visibly soiled after use, and the scientists said it would not require cleaning more often than non-coated barriers. Once saturated, the substance should be wiped down with water and reapplied.

Security flaw found in 2G data encryption

TECHNOLOGY

Researchers in Europe say they have discovered a flaw in an encryption algorithm used by cellphones that may have allowed attackers to eavesdrop on some data traffic for more than two decades.

In a paper published Wednesday, researchers from Germany, France and Norway said the flaw affects the GPRS - or 2G - mobile data standard.

While most phones now use 4G or even 5G standards, GPRS remains a fallback for data connections in some countries.

The vulnerability in the GEA-1 algorithm is unlikely to have been an accident, the researchers said. Instead, it was probably created intentionally to provide law enforcement agencies with a "backdoor" and comply with laws restricting the export of strong encryption tools.

"According to our experimental analysis, having six correct numbers in the German lottery twice in a row is about as likely as having these properties of the key occur by chance," Christof Beierle of the Ruhr University Bochum said.

50% of cosmetics have toxic chemicals: Study

HEALTH

WASHINGTON: More than half the cosmetics sold in the United States and Canada are awash with a toxic industrial compound associated with serious health conditions, including cancer and reduced birth weight, as per a study.

Researchers at the University of Notre Dame tested more than 230 commonly used cosmetics and found that 56% of foundations and eye products, 48% of lip products and 47% of mascaras contained fluorine — an indicator of PFAS, so-called "forever chemicals" that are used in nonstick frying pans, rugs and countless other consumer products.

Some of the highest PFAS levels were found in waterproof mascara (82%) and long-lasting lipstick (62%), according to the study published Tuesday in the journal Environmental Science & Technology Letters. Twenty-nine products with higher fluorine concentrations were tested further and found to contain between four and 13 specific PFAS chemicals, the study found. Only one item listed PFAS, or perfluoroalkyl and polyfluoroalkyl substances, as an ingredient on the label.

A spokeswoman for the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, which regulates cosmetics, said the agency does not comment on specific studies. The FDA said on its website that there have been few studies of the presence of the chemicals in cosmetics, and the ones published generally found the concentration is at very low levels not likely to harm people, in the parts per billion level to the 100s of parts per million.

A fact sheet posted on the agency's website says that, "As the science on PFAS in cosmetics continues to advance, the FDA will continue to monitor voluntary data submitted by industry as well as published research. But PFAS chemicals are an issue of increasing concern for lawmakers who are working to regulate their use in consumer products. The study results were announced as a bipartisan group of senators introduced a bill to ban the use of PFAS in cosmetics and other beauty products.

Centuries-old shipwrecks found off Singapore in rare discovery

ARCHAEOLOGY

SINGAPORE: Two centuries-old shipwrecks packed with ceramics and other artefacts have been found off Singapore in a rare discovery that will shed light on the city-state's maritime heritage, archaeologists said Wednesday.

The wrecks were found off Pedra Branca, a rocky outcrop east of Singapore, according to the National Heritage Board and the ISEAS-Yusof Ishak Institute, which worked together on the project.

The first wreck, discovered after divers accidentally came across ceramic plates in 2015, was carrying Chinese ceramics that possibly date back to the 14th century, when Singapore was known as Temasek.

Some of the items were similar to artefacts found in archaeological digs on land, which showed that Singapore was a trading hub before the British colonisers came in 1819.

Undersea excavations on the first wreck led to the discovery of the second, which is likely to be the Shah Munchah, a merchant vessel built in India that sank in 1796 while sailing from China to India.

Items recovered from the second wreck ranged from Chinese ceramics to glass and agate objects, as well anchors and cannons, the heritage board and think tank said.

The survey and recovery of artefacts from the two wrecks was completed this year.

Such cannons were typically mounted on merchant ships used by the East India Company --- the trading behemoth through which the British empire expanded in Asia -- in the 18th and 19th centuries, they added.

The vessel discovered in 2015 was the first ancient shipwreck to be found in Singapore's waters. It was carrying "more Yuan dynasty blue-and-white porcelain than any other documented shipwreck in the world," said Michael Flecker, a visiting fellow at the ISEAS-Yusof Ishak Institute's archaeology unit.

"Many of the pieces are rare, and one is believed to be unique."

The Yuan dynasty existed in what is now China in the 13th and 14th centuries.

Much of the Chinese cargo in the second wreck was destined for eventual shipping to Britain, said Flecker.

KEEP IN MIND

1. Use a serum or facial oil before using the gua sha stone or jade roller so that it can run smoothly along your skin
2. Make sure to not hit the bone, the tool should only touch the soft tissue
3. Use an inside to outside motion while using these tools
4. Always wash with soap and water post use
5. Do not use if you have sensitive skin or active acne

On a roll

Sticks and stones may break your bones but might just help take your skincare regime to the next level

SIMRAN AHUJA

If you are active on social media, you would have come across an advertisement for a gua sha stone or a jade roller, a tutorial for how to use one or a post about how these new tools have become a mainstay in beauty routines. Gua sha stones and jade rollers are gaining popularity as facial massage tools that can help reap the benefits of ancient Chinese healing. Dr Chytra Anand explains that these apparatuses replace the fingers when it comes to massaging facial muscles. "They increase the blood circulation, which gives you a light flush. When you increase circulation, lymphatics also increase and they drain into lymph nodes that are on the periphery of our face and neck," adds the founder of Kosmoderma Clinics.

This benefit is what makes Aarathi A turn to her jade roller every morning. "It reduces the puffiness on my face, especially under the eyes," says the marketing professional, who uses the tool to roll over sheet masks to aid better absorption of the serum in them.

Jade and rose quartz are the two most popular variants of these tools, with both believed to have healing properties. "Not everyone believes that though," says Sneha Bhagwat, founder, Nailbox Salon, where such tools are incorporated as part of services. "But even so, there's consensus that these are relaxing. You also get bigger gua sha stones for other parts of the body," adds Bhagwat.

While gua sha stones and jade rollers have been around, the pandemic and remote working has shined a new spotlight on them. Ask Priyanjana Roy, who after a hiatus, picked up these tools in March. "There was a boom in the self-care phenomenon and now, everyone wants to take some time out for themselves. I use my gua sha stone as an essential part of my night routine since it helps me let go of the day's stress and prepare for bed," says the lifestyle blogger.

Agrees Aarathi, who finds that more than anything, her skin feels relaxed. Anand too points out that gua sha stones or jade rollers may not do much when it comes to anti-aging or corrective measures or producing long-term benefits such as increasing collagen production. "But there is a short-term feel-good factor that people enjoy," she says.

And it is this wave Indian beauty brands are hoping to ride out too. Many are now adding these products to their catalogue. Take, for instance, The Ayurveda Co. (TAC). This online ayurvedic skincare brand will soon launch jade rollers and gua sha stones too. "With a lot of time being spent in front of screens, people can notice the skin being impacted with blue light. The skin a little extra pampering," says Shreedha Singh, CEO and co-founder.

After playing the roles of kings, poets and freedom fighters, theatre artiste Mohammad Ali Baig is ready to surprise viewers in his debut OTT webseries as a whole new character

Talking change

SANATH PRASAD

THINK regal roles, think theatre artiste Mohammad Ali Baig. But deviating from this niche, Baig is all set to showcase a whole-new avatar in Telugu OTT series In The Name Of God which is slated to release this weekend on AHA video. A man who has donned the hats of several characters for plays such as Quli: Dilon ka Shahzaada, Under an Oak Tree, Alone, Baig is now stepping out of his comfort zone. "I play a character called Rossi, a psycho drug peddler who is charming at the same time. He entices and traps people for his greed for blood," says Baig, who will perform his play Alone, starring his wife, Noor Baig, and himself, once the lockdown in Bengaluru eases to a larger extent.

However, for his new OTT series, which is directed by Vidyasaagar Muthukumar and produced by Suresh Krishna, Baig has been working on the role of a 'baddie' for a while now. "I began actual preparation for the character when I was in Russia in March 2020, where we had a long break during the shoot of Tamil film, Cobra. For this role, I also recollected my time spent in Tel Aviv, incorporating the body language of hippies. All this because Rossi is of Israeli origin in the series," says Baig.

Even as he just makes his OTT debut, he feels that although platforms have immense potential, makers are overdoing it with gory, sleazy and violent content. "But at the same time, this is what sells," he says, adding, "It is a very convenient platform with expansive features, but makers must utilise it wisely." "When a trend catches on, it is difficult for directors with different ideas to thrive. Because platforms won't accept the content without the elements of foul language, goriness and sleaziness," he adds.

The shooting of In The Name Of God was scheduled between September 2020 and March 2021, and was one of the very few regional series that went ahead with the shooting amidst the pandemic. "The initial shooting days were scary. There were a lot of do's and don'ts which were difficult to comply with. We had masks, PPE kits which were to be worn and removed quite often. Sometimes I wondered why we were even shooting. It was difficult to manage the first schedule, but we got used to it thereafter," says Baig, who is also a part of S S Rajamouli's Baahubali web series and Imtiaz Ali's She season 2 for Netflix, which is currently being shot.

Here is a step-by-step process to help you regain your full health after testing Covid positive

ROAD TO RECOVERY

DR. BRUNDA MS

IF you are recovering from Covid or have returned home from the hospital, you will face smaller battles every day until you get back to your routine life. Recovering from Covid can usually take anywhere from a month or two to as much as a year depending on the severity of the infection. Hence, during this period it is important to ensure that you are safe and are constantly following the simple rule of following social distancing, wearing masks and maintaining proper hygiene and sanitisation.

Post infection, patients often experience weakness, fatigue and dry cough that is as painful as it was during the initial days of the infection. The viral load is immense and weakens the body a lot.

(The author is a consultant, Internal Medicine, Aster CMI Hospital)

Tips to manage dry cough

A dry cough can put a great amount of strain on a patient's throat post recovering or while recovering. This can be a painful experience for the patients. In order to manage, adopt the following practices

- Practice steam inhalation for at least thrice a day to loosen the phlegm congested in lungs.
- Walk around your room to ensure better functioning of the lungs.

Tips to manage fatigue

After having battled the virus, one's body becomes weak and many people often feel drained. Yoga and naturopathy might just aid in managing a binge eating disorder

DR H P BHARATHI

DO you or someone you care about have an eating disorder? There's more to these problems than simply food and weight. From school or job performance to physical health issues, an eating disorder may create severe disruptions in a person's life. Yoga is a mind-body activity that is recognised for its inherent healing effects and awareness. Yoga and naturopathy may be a valuable aid in the rehabilitation process, and consistent yoga practice in conjunction with naturopathy treatment and psychiatric therapy may be beneficial.

WHAT MAKES YOGA A SUITABLE CHOICE

According to a study published by the National Eating Disorder Association, 4 out of 10 adults have either directly experienced an eating disorder or know someone who has. Through non-judgment, confidence, and self-acceptance, yoga has been demonstrated to help ease anxiety, anger and depression as well as improve self-esteem and a healthy body image.

Yoga may be customised to assist digestion, ease constipation, and lessen reactivity to the unpleasant process of binge eating. It also encourages emotional connection to the person's internal world, allowing emotions, wants, and longings to be grounded.

Stressful mental patterns that sustain eating disorders may frequently dissipate slowly with a design that first "opens" the body via stretching and then completes with relaxation. During or after a yoga practise, we may be able to release feelings that have been burdening us for years.

Yoga, meditation and breathwork both lessen the body's physiological stress response by lowering sympathetic nervous system activation and boosting activity in the part of the brain responsible for confidence, emotion management, and mental flexibility, according to studies on mindfulness.

HOW NATUROPATHY HELPS

Naturopathic physicians treat patients focusing on their physical, lifestyle, environmental, mental, and emotional wellness. Naturopathy doctors who follow these concepts always concentrate on addressing the underlying cause of a patient's ailment. Depression, anxiety, trauma, or another factor may play a role in eating disorders.

This may also need collaboration with a psychologist due to the serious nature of binge eating disorder. The naturopathy method entails examining the body's long-term changes: What nutrients have been deficient for a long time? What impact does the eating disorder have on mental performance? What organs or blood components, such as the stomach, heart, kidneys, and so on, have been impaired? It also entails assessing what deep-seated issues the patient may need assistance in overcoming the eating disorder.

Naturopathy also involves alternative healing therapies like acupuncture, relaxation therapy, botanical medicine and others. Acupuncture may aid in the treatment of eating disorders by addressing linked health issues, lowering stress, and speeding the healing of afflicted bodily systems. The botanical medicine approach tries to replenish the patient's organ systems, which are often damaged as a result of the binge eating problem. And relaxation therapy involves massage therapy, which seeks to lower stress hormones, raise positive chemical levels (norepinephrine and dopamine), and reduce body dissatisfaction.

The pandemic has made it imperative for people with lifestyle diseases to be careful and take all preventive measures

(SECOND) WAVE OF WORRIES

DR TEJASWINI DEEPAK

PEOPLE with lifestyle diseases like diabetes and hypertension have been at higher risk during the pandemic. While the chances of being affected are worse for those with comorbidities, the lockdown and work from home has also become a cause for worry. Stress levels are higher, with minimal opportunities for physical activities, resulting in increased cases of lifestyle diseases. The second wave, which came just as people were beginning to resume their normal lives, aggravated the issue.

Lifestyle disorders are diseases that occur primarily as a result of people's living habits and lifestyle. Low physical activity, poor eating habits, disrupted sleeping patterns, competitive living, and poor body posture contribute to lifestyle disorders.

The recovery from Covid is complicated by pre-existing medical conditions. The post-recovery complication of Mucormycosis is also more prevalent in people who suffer from diabetes. The second wave has made it all the more imperative for people with such medical conditions to be careful and take all preventive measures.

Take these steps to manage the existing lifestyle diseases amid the second wave in order to avoid further complications:

Take medication as directed: It is imperative for people with comorbidities like diabetes and hypertension to take medication as directed and do regular home tests. Any fluctuation in sugar levels or change in symptoms should be immediately addressed.

Physical activity: This and workout is a crucial part of a healthy lifestyle. A 30-minute walk every day can help in keeping the body fit and active. While working from home, walk during that work call, and find a desk that helps in maintaining the correct posture.

Nutritious diet: Eat foods that are rich in protein, fibers and vitamins. A rich diet can help in reducing the risk of cardiovascular diseases. Along with this, make sure you drink at least three litres of water every day. Including immunity boosting foods like ginger, garlic, broccoli and spinach will also result in effective management of any medical conditions.

Manage stress levels: The excessive stress due to working from home and lack of social life along with the increasing cases of Covid can lead to a number of lifestyle problems like obesity. Manage the stress levels by meditating for 10 minutes every day and regulating the sleep cycle.

Sanitise regularly: Sanitising everyday objects along with hands regularly can help in keeping one away from catching the virus or any other infections. It is also advised to follow the Covid-19 guidelines while stepping out to run necessary errands or for doctor visits.

EXPOSURE TO COMMON COLD CAN HELP COMBAT COVID-19: STUDY

Exposure to the rhinovirus, the most frequent cause of the common cold, can protect against infection by the virus which causes Covid-19, researchers have found. Increased usage of headphones, earbuds likely to raise hearing troubles in children as their auditory system maturation is incomplete, warn experts. WHAT IS THE PLACE OF KNOWLEDGE IN OUR LIVES?

SO we have to enquire a great deal into the question of knowledge: what place has knowledge in life? Are we together in this observation? Will knowledge transform man? What place has knowledge in the mutation or in the ending of conditioning? This is conditioning: I have conditioned through knowledge her, and she has conditioned me through knowledge. You are following all this? We are together in this? We are observing together? Please, I am not teaching you. You are observing with all your energy, with capacity to see this fact: that where there is knowledge in relationship, there must be conflict. I must have knowledge how to drive a car, how to write a sentence, how to speak English, or French, or Italian, whatever language it is. Or I must have technological knowledge; if I am a good carpenter, I must have knowledge about the wood, tools I use and so on; but in relationship with my wife, or with a friend, whatever it is, that knowledge which I have gathered together, put together through constant irritation, constant separation, ambitions, this knowledge which I have acquired, that knowledge is going to prevent actual relationship with another. Right? Is this a fact, or is this merely a supposition, a theory, an idea? An idea is an abstraction of a fact. Right? The word 'idea' in Greek means to observe, to see, to come very close to perception, not make an abstraction which becomes an idea. So we are not dealing with ideas. But we are dealing with the actual relationship, which is in conflict, and that conflict arises when I have accumulated lots of information about her and she has acquired a lot about me. So, our relationship then is based on knowledge; and knowledge can never be complete, about anything in life. Please realise this. Knowledge must always go with the shadow of ignorance. Right? You can't know about the universe. Astrophysicists may describe, but to be aware of that immensity, no knowledge is required through information; you have to have that mind that is so vast, so completely orderly, as the universe is, then that's a different matter.

So similarly, knowledge in relationship brings about conflict. See the fact. Not accept the fact; see the fact that knowledge has importance in one direction, in the other it has not. The negation is the most positive - you understand? Right? Can we go from there a little more? That is, do we exercise will to end conflict? That is, to enquire whether will, that is, positive action - 'I want to end this conflict' - whether that will will bring about the cessation of conflict, which we have done before.

So, it's very important to understand the place of knowledge and knowledge as an impediment in relationship. Love is not knowledge; love is not remembrance. When there is no knowledge about her, I look upon her, and she does, as a fresh, new human being, each day new. You know what it does? You are too learned, you are full of book knowledge, what other people have said. And that's why this becomes awfully difficult to comprehend - a very simple thing like this.

'SANCHARI VIJAY'S ROLE IN TALEDANDA WORTH A NATIONAL AWARD'

Director Praveen Krupakar, who released the teaser a few hours after the actor's death, said it was done as a creative tribute to one of the greatest actors

A SHARADHAA

Praveen Krupakar

THE release of the Taledanda teaser featuring Sanchari Vijay and directed by Praveen Krupakar, was out just a few hours after the actor's death, and it was a matter of discussion in the film fraternity and viewers. However, Taledanda's director clarifies that it was purely a creative tribute to one of the greatest actors, and he had no other intention. "I was disturbed by his passing away, and it was a random decision by me. Initially, when I was discussing this with my friends, they suggested I release a few clippings, but I chose to release the teaser," says the director.

Sharing the first few stills with CE, he tells us that Sanchari Vijay's character as Kunne Gowda aka Kunna in Taledanda was definite to fetch him another national award, and he too was confident about it.

Remembering his last conversation with the actor, which was on Saturday morning, Praveen says that Sanchari, apart from speaking about his Covid relief working, also spoke about how our film's promotion should be done once the entertainment industry reopens. "Sanchari was keen that Taledanda reach national and international audiences, and he wanted a few national-award winners to talk about his film. He was planning to speak to national award winner Mammootty for a byte about his character. He was equally enthusiastic about having a few words from another national award winner, Kamal Haasan too. This was something we discussed a few hours before his fateful accident," says Praveen, adding, "He also spoke about us organising an event and inviting the chief minister. He wanted to appear in the get-up of Kunna, the character he plays. But he suddenly left."

Praveen Krupakar has done the story, screenplay, dialogue, and direction of Taledanda. It is the story of Kunna, an intellectually-challenged person showing exemplary concern and awareness about the conservation of the environment. The film has been sent to over 16 international film festivals and has also to national award. We will also apply for a state award as and when it opens," says Praveen, who adds that Kunna was a tailor-made character for Sanchari Vijay. "He took my request and stayed with the Soliga tribes for two nights. He did this thrice to understand their culture and food habits. For this, I took permission of authorities. This is just one example of how deeply he got involved in a certain character." Praveen makes a special mention about Vijay's onscreen chemistry with actor Mangala. "She was his mentor and as artistes, the two had healthy competition," he says.

About the release, Praveen is looking at a September date. "With a lot of festivals during that period, I want release it then," he says.

Taledanda produced by Hema Malini Krupakar and co-produced by Arun Kumar R has music scored by Hari-Kavya.

'A natural actor'

According to veteran cinematographer Ashok Kashyap, who has four decades of experience, he always found Sanchari Vijay an unconventional actor, and looked forward to working with him on a project which was realised with Taledanda. "Sanchari got into the skin of a character. I saw a certain energy in him. He didn't t imitate any actors. He looked into minute details. The combination of Mangala and Vijay is something to watch out for. As a DoP, I didn't want to picturise it like a movie, but wanted it candid, which he made it possible."

Muhurath of America America was an expensive dream

Nagathihalli Chandrashekhar goes back 25 years in time, recalling how he fulfilled his dream of launching the film in the USA

CE FEATURES

It was on June 16, 1996 when director Nagathihalli Chandrashekar commenced the shooting of America America. The director shared a throwback picture with us of the muhurath, and the speciality of it was the film's launch that took place in America. "As a writer and director, I wanted to do something different. Though 'different' is a cliche term now, it was unique at that point in time," says Nagathihalli. "Launching a film in America was an expensive dream," adds the director, about the muhurath that took place in the presence of lead actors Ramesh Aravind, Hema and Dattanna. "Luckily my wife was working in the US as a software head. And as a college professor, I would visit during summer holidays. That was what gave me this idea. I got a lot of support from NRI Kannadigas, who were keen that I do a subject based in America."

The veteran director, who has been busy with Covid relief works, is simultaneously planning his next. "It will be done on a bigger canvas, and details of it will be revealed as early as possible," he says.

'LUCA IS MY LOVE LETTER TO ITALY'

...says director Enrico Casarosa who, along with producer Andrea Warren, talk about how they ideated and executed Pixar's latest outing, Luca

GOPINATH RAJENDRAN

PIXAR has been churning out quality animation films, almost one every year, since it began with Toy Story in 1995. This year, they have hedged their bets on Luca that is releasing this Friday on Disney+ Hotstar. The film will mark the directorial debut of Enrico Casarosa, who has earlier worked as a storyboard artist in various Pixar films like Ratatouille, Up and Coco. Along with producer Andrea Warren, Casarosa, here, talks about Luca, touted to be a film on friendship, set on a picturesque seaside town on the Italian Riviera.

Excerpts:

Pixar has been known for breaking barriers in terms of animation. With Luca's events centred in and around a river, how hard was it to push boundaries in terms of water animation?

Enrico Casarosa: We wanted to look for something that was more controllable and designable. We wanted to work on stylisation and beautiful shades and lyricism. So much of this movie is about a kid experiencing things for the first time and I wanted a sense of that light and wonder to be part of this movie because it's about someone who's in love with discovering the world.

We looked at the water and asked, "How does this support an emotional moment?" We have wonderful moments where an emotion comes out, where the water, waves and the weather support it. There's a playfulness to it, a lyricism to it that I was after.

Andrea Warren: I think our team really worked hard to make sure that this water felt like it was from the Mediterranean versus the tropical water or other settings. We wanted to make the audience feel like they went to Italy. There's the murk of the water and some of those details that are also a part of the setting.

Is there a reason the film is set in the past?

EC: A part of it is just my love of that golden era of film and cinema in Italy. I also love the music of the 50s and 60s in Italy, so we are using a lot of that. Then, the design, the old Vespas, the old, little bicycle carts... I just love the old feel. We were inspired by so many of these little details. To me, what makes it interesting is the question of how it would be different if we were to throw in a cell phone there... There's a timelessness and nostalgia to that age.

And yet, the film seems to speak of topics that are relevant today.

AW: We liked the metaphor of the sea monster and think it can apply to so many different things. There is a theme of openness, and self-acceptance and community acceptance.

EC: Yeah, I agree. We hope that the sea monster could be a metaphor for people who feel different—like when you are a teen or a pre-teen. It is that moment when you feel odd. There are many ways of feeling different. This felt like a wonderful way to talk about that and having to accept ourselves first.

Enrico, as an Italian yourself, you surely feel a lot of pride in bringing your hometown to the world?

EC: Oh, it's such a pleasure. I was able to include the Ligurian dialect in the film. We are putting little Genoa in. I have so many little details that I'm like, "Ooh, this one is very specific and people in Liguria would probably understand." It's a wonderful area of the world and I feel it really goes so well with our ethos of authenticity and specificity, in embracing these wonderful details. We want to present this place in an authentic way. I have a lot of pride as an immigrant. I think the further away you are from your roots, the more you appreciate them. Making cinema is how I embrace my roots.

There is always the concern that an introduction to a foreign culture could get bogged down by stereotypes...

AW: We didn't want to water the stories down; we want to tell the real, most authentic version. Enrico was a resource of a lot of that, but we did also create, what we call, a 'Pixar culture trust', as part of which many folks from that area came together and it was wonderful to hear a different perspective on what authenticity means. We appreciated all of that advice and input in creating the best version and the most authentic version that we could, of Portorosso (The fictional city from Luca).

EC: It's an interesting question. Our main theme is actually friendship, but a sense of self-acceptance is a huge part of this. Talking about the stereotypes, it's an interesting challenge, and that is why we need the 'culture trust' to double-check all our assumptions, so we could bring someone to the place in an authentic, loving way. This is a love letter.

What's your take on the film getting an OTT release?

EC: We make these movies for the large screen, and for them to be experienced together. In a few parts of the world, the film will be experienced as intended. But releasing it on OTT is wonderful too because so many people will get to see it. So many kids will get to see it. And to be honest, we put so many layers, secrets, and ideas that we are really excited that there is a chance that the film can be watched repeatedly. Quite deliberately, we have created such a rich world and I'm excited about repeated viewings because of that. The audience can learn some Italian words too through the movie (laughs).
